PSC creates a sense of belonging

Students coming back to SFA in August had a new home with lots of services available to make their time on campus entertaining, enjoyable, efficient and relaxing.

The Baker Pattillo Student Center (PSC), a facility of approximately 95,000 square feet, has added a plethora of new amenities previously unavailable to SFA students.

A 383-seat movie theater, three-story atrium, multi-outlet food court, a convenience store and an additional 19 meeting rooms are just a few of the latest and greatest this new facility has to offer.

The man at the helm of this flagship is Sam Smith, and he believes the building offers more than physical services and open space.

"It's more than a building," he said. "It's a concept and should create a sense of 'I belong here'."

Smith said the PSC is as much a part of the academic process as the classroom buildings, and the staff of the PSC works to provide a space where students feel welcome, are able to express their ideas within reason and can create their own set of memories that will drive them to encourage other potential students to come to SFA.

"Memories—this building makes them," Smith said, "and I feel it is my responsibility to make sure that the Student Center and its staff do everything they can to contribute to them."

The PSC found its beginnings in August 2001, when students at a campus-wide leadership retreat determined that the existing University Center could no longer provide enough services and space for the growing student population. During the remainder of that fall semester, student leaders discussed ways of providing a remedy to the situation.

In spring 2002, the Student Government Association passed a resolution requesting that the Board of Regents establish a committee whose purpose would be to explore the possibility of adding new space to the University Center. In July of that year, the University Center Expansion Committee was born.

The committee visited other university student centers to gain insight and ideas into what services and amenities could go into SFA's expanded student center. Data gained from these visits as well as from focus groups on campus determined the structure and services available today.

In March 2003, students turned out in record numbers to approve a referendum that would charge students a fee to fund the building and operation of the PSC. After the overwhelming number of votes were tallied, SFA was on its way to having a new Student Center.

"It's a privilege to work for a brand new Student Center that was brought forth by the efforts of the students," Smith said. "It embodies the spirit of the PSC, the contribution of a few to benefit many students in the future."

BAKER PATILLO STUDENT CENTER

Rec Center New Campus Attraction

The new Student Recreation Center opened its doors in April 2007 to thousands of people including faculty, students and parents on campus for the annual Parents Day.

The ribbon was cut after a few words from Dr. Baker Pattillo, SFA president. Also speaking were Amanda Williams, the former SGA president who helped develop the Recreation Center plan two years ago, and current SGA president Kent Willis, Grapeland senior. SFA band members helped welcome everyone to SFA's newest addition, playing the school song as the crowd made its way through the doors.

The two-story, $24 million Student Recreational Center offers a wide variety of workout options and entertainment through the entire 80,910 square feet inside and 72,430 square feet outside.

The inside of the building has two levels.

On the main level students will find Lumberjack Lounge as soon as they walk in, along with various classrooms and personal training rooms.

A large number of classes are free to students; however, the personal training service, personal nutritionist and personal massage sessions can be enjoyed at a small cost.

After swiping their card and going through the main entrance on Wilson Drive, students will see a large variation of cardio workout machines equipped with flat screen televisions and XM satellite radio, which take up most of the lower part of the level.

An amazing climbing wall, also on the first level, has more than 2,300 square feet of climbing space and can accommodate at least 10 people at a time. The wall also has a 13-foot bouldering cave on the inside and a 34-foot natural crack.

On the back side of the wall is a large, wide-open free weight center, with enough space to give students plenty of room to do whatever free weight workout plan they desire.

A set of stairs or the elevator lead to the upper level where there is a three-lane, track (seven laps to a mile) along with another small cardio workout space overlooking the outdoor section of the Rec Center.

Where most facilities leave the corners of an indoor track empty, the designers of SFA's Rec Center have turned those spaces into small workout centers, allowing students to stop at several places along the entire track.

With punching bags, free weights and other activities, the corner spaces provide something to do if a person gets tired of watching one of the three large pace clocks hanging along the way.

The enter also has provided two racquetball courts, one of which is equipped for wallyball.

Director of Campus Recreation Jeff Huskey said, "The Rec Center is not just a place for those hard-core people who want to come work out. It's a social place, too."

The large outdoor pool supports Huskey's statement and, although not yet finished, there is a lavish courtyard where students can enjoy outdoor sand volleyball, basketball or even just chill out at picnic tables equipped with grills.

The pool has a deck for lounging, a 270-foot lazy river with current and a 12-foot diving well, which should allow students and faculty members alike to enjoy themselves.

The spa seats 30 and is next to a pool with three lap lanes as well as a play pool area for volleyball/basketball. It is also equipped with a hydrotherapy bench. The water can be enjoyed through the seasons, as the pool is heated year-round.

WATERMELON BASH

Students take a bite out of tradition

The Watermelon Bash is sponsored every summer by the Student Government Association and held during the second summer session in the Fountain Plaza to unite staff and students. The event gives students a chance to take a break from studying and have some fun.

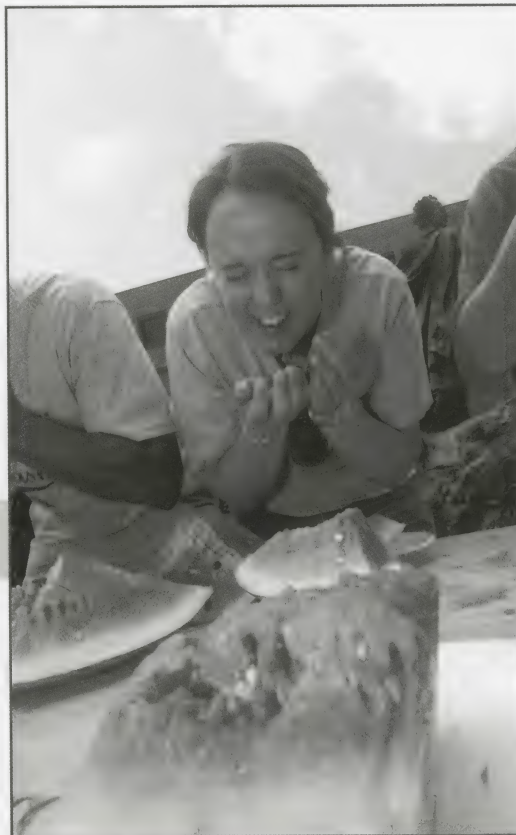

The Watermelon Bash has been a tradition for 60 years, making it the oldest SFA tradition.

In the past, watermelons for the event were purchased from local farms. During summer 2007, 50 watermelons were donated for the event by B.J. Farms in Grapeland. Everything from cutting the melons to playing games for prizes takes place during the event.

Students can compete in various games including the watermelon roll, seed-spitting and melon-eating contests to win prizes like portable CD players and other items.

SGA reports the turnout is always very good because students enjoy stopping by for a quick bite of watermelon and a free T-shirt. The event is also a great way for students to meet and interact with their deans, professors and the student government representatives.

Campers dive into Lumberjack spirit

For the past eight years, Jack Camp has been an SFA tradition helping incoming freshmen make the transition from high school to college.

The camp began during the summer of 1999 and has expanded with every subsequent year. It is held at Camp Olympia in Trinity, Texas, and usually includes two sessions in a two-week period preceding the fall semester.

While not all incoming freshmen attend Jack Camp, the ones who do claim it was one of the best decisions they could have made coming into college. It provides a chance for freshmen to get acquainted with the student leaders on campus and other freshmen. Many students meet their future roommates and best friends at Jack Camp.

“I think it was a lot easier to come to college because there were students there helping us with questions, concerns or fears that we had about being on our own,” Kelli Oliveira, Sugar Land junior and Jack Camp 2005 attendee, said.

Students currently enrolled at SFA are the ones who organize and lead Jack Camp. Many of the orientation leaders that students meet at summer orientation are also Jack Camp counselors.

Once the students get to the camp, they are divided into two tribes—Austin and Rusk. Throughout the camp, the tribes compete against each other in teambuilding and sporting activities.

During each camp session, the incoming freshmen learn about the many SFA traditions and how to get involved with each of them. Other topics covered include getting to know your roommate and surviving your first year of college.

Sarah Wood, Longview senior, has worked as a camp counselor for the past two years and is looking forward to reapplying for a third year.

“Jack Camp is a place where everyone fits in, no matter what you like to do or where you come from,” Wood said.

Campus Life

Students build relationships on campus

At SFA, pride and tradition are deeply rooted in student life; however, the social realm on campus remains an important venue for self-expression, personal bonds and entertainment.

During 2008, students gathered from across campus every day of the week for a variety of activities. From Student Activities Association and Recreation Center programs to dorm parties and Guitar Hero competitions, social connections played an important role in student life on campus.

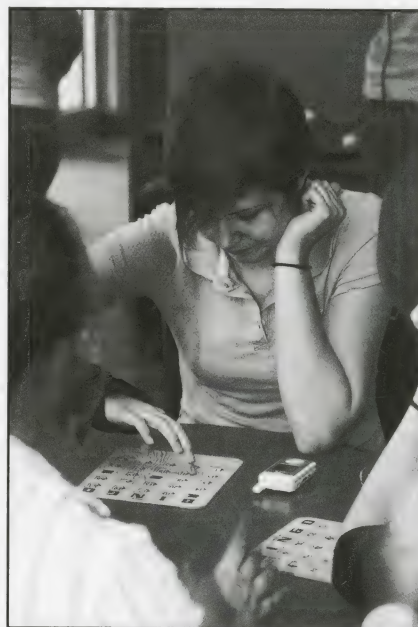

In a generation and era so connected to communication and the Internet, media and technology played a major role in the everyday life of a college student. The terms “poke” and “superpoke” became second nature and resonated from our vocals countless times. The words of Jon Stuart and Stephen Colbert superseded those of our own political leaders, and Facebook or Myspace crashing constituted a bad day.

With the newly renovated Baker Pattillo Student Center completed, the new building plays host to many social events. From weekly movies with multiple showing, like “Superbad” and “The Mist,” to special concerts, students flock for entertainment. It was an exciting year!

More and more programs were added, making it possible to do something new each week. Although work and studies remained positive, student fun and entertainment was ranked high.

WHITE CHRISTMAS

Snow in April

Even though Nacogdoches is the last humid place on earth where a white Christmas is expected, a bit of sunshine and fall of snow came down during the Easter Break. Snowflakes fell throughout the day and eventually began to stick around mid-afternoon. Although it was all gone by that night, the short lived winter wonderland was enjoyed by all who were in town.

Lumberjack Alley

Tailgating... A Favorite Lumberjack Tradition

With the coming of the fall semester at SFA, students and faculty anticipate the beginning of the traditional college football season. One tradition tends to create another, and along with football comes tailgating at the ever popular Lumberjack Alley.

Lumberjack Alley is organized by the Alumni Association and takes place the morning of every Lumberjack home game in the commuter parking lot by Homer Bryce Stadium.

This tailgate event is open to the entire student body and community.

Jeremy Stolfa is the coordinator of operations for SFA athletics and helps organize Lumberjack Alley. "Lumberjack Alley is a tailgate area for the fans that enhances the SFA football atmosphere," Stolfa said.

Tipton Ford is the main sponsor of Lumberjack Alley, so much so that the formal name for the event is Lumberjack Alley Tipton Ford Tailgate, Stolfa said. Other vendors who support Lumberjack Alley include Sonic, U.S. Smokeless Tobacco and R&K Distributors.

Lumberjack Alley covers almost the entire parking area with people grilling, partying, eating and socializing. Music, barbecue and team spirit fill the air as everyone gets ready to cheer on the Lumberjacks.

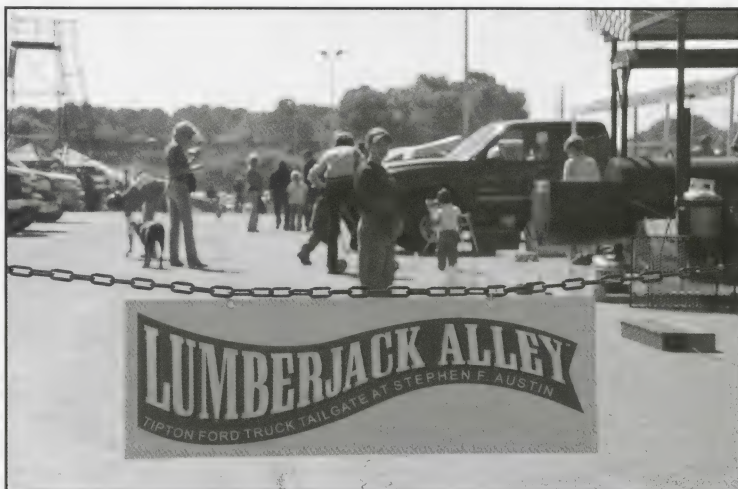

Anyone can get in on the action. Local Nacogdoches businesses set up and distribute free food and SFA football souvenirs.

When game time gets a little closer, the SFA cheerleaders and marching band make a visit to the tailgating festivities and perform a mini pep rally for the fans by playing the SFA Fight Song and other classics such as "Wabash Cannonball."

For the diehard Lumberjack fans who want their own yearly tailgate site, lots are available for purchase at $70, Stolfa said.

Stolfa encouraged fans to come out, wear purple, be loud, experience an SFA tradition unlike any other at Lumberjack Alley Tipton Ford Tailgate and cheer on the Jacks to victory.

Homecoming 2007

The Truth About SFA Spirit

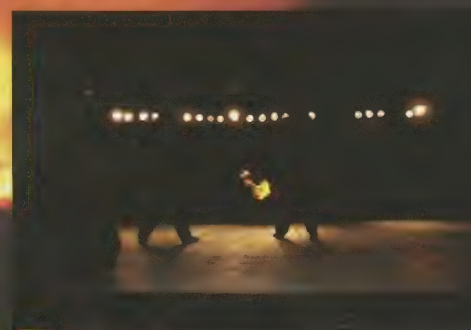

Students, faculty, staff and friends of the University enjoyed SFA's 79th annual Homecoming in October and participated in activities including the golf tournament, Silent Auction, Benefit Drawing and Duck Dash, all of which generated nearly $80,000 for the SFA Alumni Scholarship Fund. Other activities which highlighted the weekend included the on-campus Torchlight Parade and the traditional downtown parade, Lumberjack Day and the crowning of the Homecoming court at the football game against arch rival Sam Houston State.

Seniors Michael Bonessi of Austin and Julia Gaona of Pasadena reigned as king and queen over the 2007 celebration. Other members of the court were Ashley Edwards of Stephenville, duchess, and Joseph Hill of Angleton, duke, senior class; Chelsi Morrow of San Antonio, duchess, and Logan Ferguson of Sulphur Springs, duke, junior class; Zebine Bojler of Stockholm, Sweden, duchess, and Caleb Ericksen of Carrollton, duke, sophomore class; and Eva Callejas of Frisco, duchess, and James Miller of Cedar Creek, duke, freshman class.

Honored as the recipient of the 2007 Distinguished Alumnus Award by the Alumni Association was Nell Fortner, head coach of women's basketball at Auburn University. Fortner, widely regarded as one of the prolific young basketball coaches in the country, is also a renowned motivational speaker, clinician and television analyst. She was an assistant coach for the Ladyjack Basketball team from 1988 to 1990 after she earned her master's degree at SFA. Her distinguished career has also included stints as coach of the U. S. Olympic basketball team that won the Gold Medal at the 2000 Sydney Olympics and head coach of the Indiana Fever of the WNBA.

The award was presented at Lumberjack Bash, which this year was moved back into the newly renovated Pattillo Student Center. In addition to the annual Silent Auction, Benefit Drawing and reception, the Bash featured performances by the SFA Cheerleaders, Pom Squad, Twirl-O-Jacks and the Original Cast. Afterwards, Homecoming participants moved to the Intramural Fields for the outside festivities—bonfire, concert and fireworks.

For those who still had energy left Friday night, Mardi Gras Madness was held in the William R. Johnson Coliseum, beginning at 11:30 p.m. The annual event celebrated the beginning of the basketball season for the Lumberjack and Ladyjack Basketball programs, and team members were introduced to the enthusiastic crowd.

Bleeding Purple

Jacks Hold Their Axes High

Purple Haze is a student-led organization originally formed to promote school spirit and Lumberjack pride at SFA athletic events. Today, most people know Purple Haze as the rowdy bunch of SFA students at every home football game always sitting in the same section and wearing purple shirts. But in 2008, Purple Haze is so much more.

As of 2008, Purple Haze is listed as part of the new Traditions Council at SFA. Though still independently run by students, the organization is working to get Purple Haze more public recognition. Purple Haze plans to expand its attendance at all sporting events in which SFA participates. The organization also plans to continue passing out Purple Haze shirts during Freshmen Orientation.

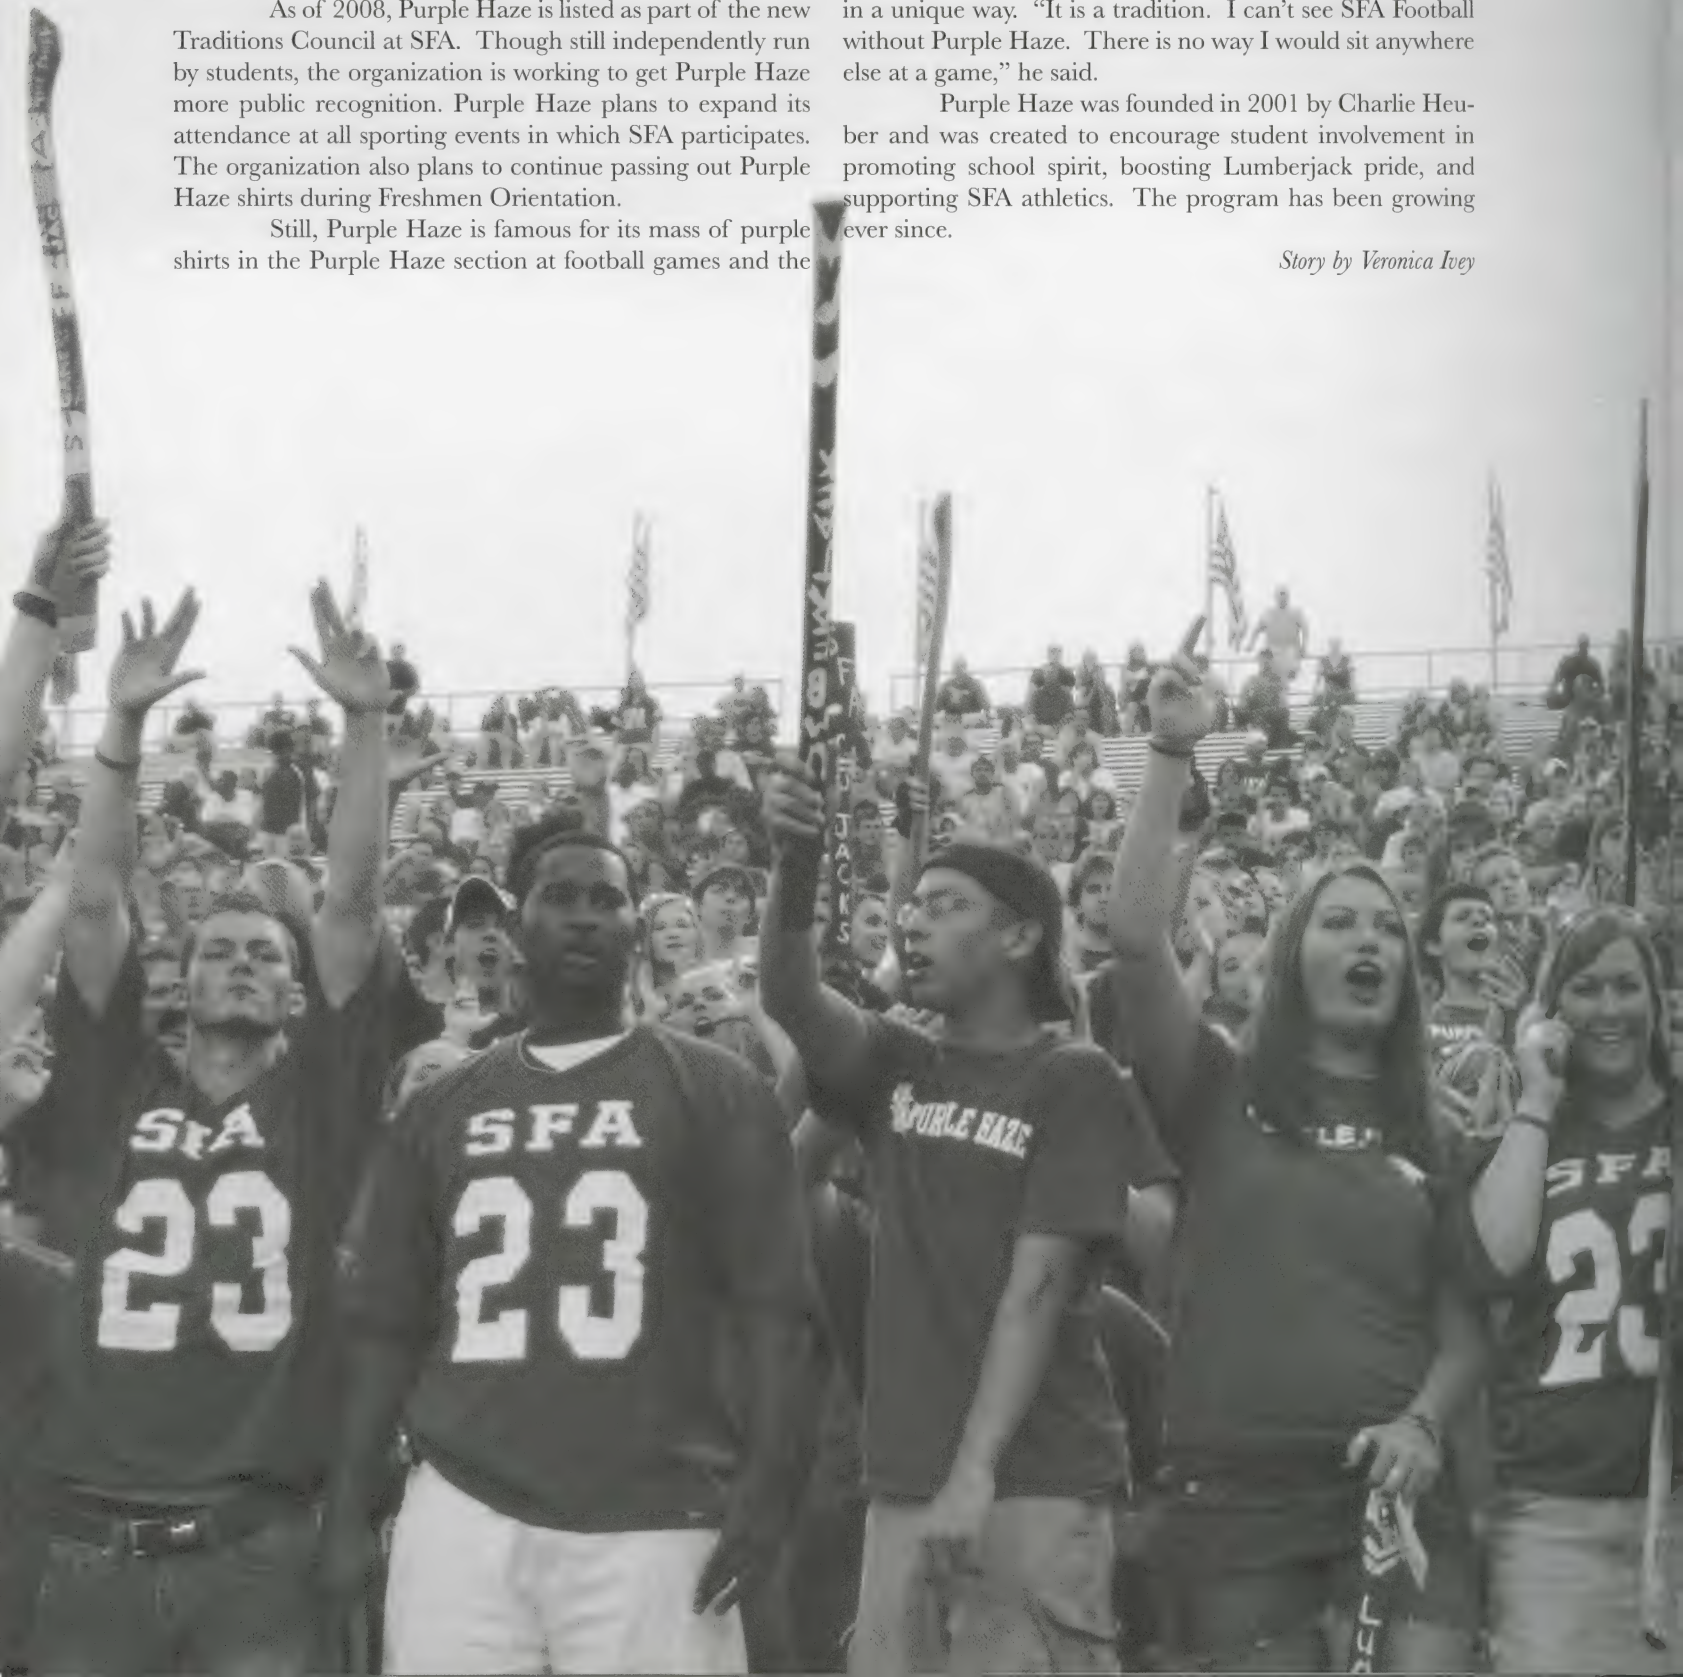

Still, Purple Haze is famous for its mass of purple shirts in the Purple Haze section at football games and the unique cheers that the Purple Haze sections bring to those games.

According to James Jenkins, Longview senior and chairman of the Purple Haze football section, the phrase "Purple Haze" will always represent students, united in school spirit and purple shirts, cheering on the football team in a unique way. "It is a tradition. I can't see SFA Football without Purple Haze. There is no way I would sit anywhere else at a game," he said.

Purple Haze was founded in 2001 by Charlie Heuber and was created to encourage student involvement in promoting school spirit, boosting Lumberjack pride, and supporting SFA athletics. The program has been growing ever since.

SpringFest 2007

"Spring Fest provided a great opportunity to introduce students to the student center in an informal and entertaining environment, which is exactly the type of atmosphere that should surround this building."

- Jessica Johnson

A Special Grand Opening for Students

In the spring of 2007, SAA commemorated the opening of the new student center by proclaiming Spring Fest the grand opening celebration for students. Spring Fest, sponsored by the Student Activities Association, is held annually during the spring semester and features bands, games, free food and drinks, and thousands of dollars worth of prizes and gifts.

Spring Fest offered several ways for students to enjoy themselves throughout the day. From outdoors activities, such as an inflatable bungee run and the ROTC rock-climbing wall, to games like bingo, horseshoes, washers and dominos, there were activities to please everyone. Thanks to the student center movie theater, students were able to take a break from the Spring Fest activities and relax while watching one of two movies, Stomp the Yard and Wild Hogs.

Along with many other events, Spring Fest also maintained an ongoing concert featuring many different artists, ranging from feature performers like Fastball to up-and-coming performers like Tyler James. The venue also showcased SFA students such as Joseph Reyna, Lumberjack Idol contest winner.

Jessica Johnson, assistant coordinator of SAA, remembers why Spring Fest was used as the opening ceremony for students. According to Johnson, Sam Smith, director of student services, was behind the idea. "Although there was a formal ceremony for the grand opening of the student center, Sam wanted to give students the chance to celebrate too," she said. "Spring Fest provided a great opportunity to invite students to the student center in an informal and entertaining environment, which is exactly the type of atmosphere that should surround this building."

Celebration of Fasting

Muslims celebrate breaking of traditional Ramadan fast

For the second year, a Ramadan dinner celebrating the end of the Islamic holiday was held at SFA. The dinner was held in the Commons Room at Lumberjack Village and was hosted by the newly formed Muslim Student Association.

Ramadan is the ninth month of the Islamic lunar calendar, the holiest period for people of the Islamic faith. During the month of Ramadan, Muslims traditionally fast during the daylight hours. They can only eat when the sun is not in the sky. Iftar dinner is the ceremony where Muslims break fast. In the Islamic religion, to officially break fast the person can only first begin with water, fruit or a date and then may finish their entire meal.

A new month in the Islamic lunar calendar begins when a new crescent moon is seen in the western horizon right after sunset. If a sighting has taken place, Ramadan has begun with the sunset, but fasting will begin with the next dawn. If the moon has not been sighted, Muslims finish Shaban, the eighth month, and Ramadan begins the following day.

Hosted by Misbah Anjum, Houston sophomore, and her family, the dinner allowed students and members of the community to enjoy food and fun while also learning more about the Islamic religion.

Misbah's father, Ather Anjum, and Zahidea Mohsin of King's Chicken, which is based in Houston, catered the traditional dinner, which included Indian, Pakistani and Arabic dishes with the spices toned down from what they would traditionally be. Guests enjoyed foods including kabobs, rice, meat, a curry dish and dessert. Dates, fruit and a drink made of syrup and milk were also served.

Students who wanted to learn or get answers to questions they have about the Islamic religion or Muslims were encouraged to come and get involved.

MR. & MISS SFA

M

Michael Bonessi, Austin senior, and Gabriela Rodriguez, Houston senior, were officially crowned Mr. and Miss SFA at the half time of the SFA women's basketball game against UT—Arlington in William R. Johnson Coliseum.

After an SFA committee, which consisted of students, alumni, faculty and staff members nominated them through an application process, the two students received their titles.

Mr. and Miss SFA are awards presented to SFA students in honor of Stan McKewen, a 1934 SFA graduate, and Arodean Covin, who was named Miss SFA in 1940 through 1942.

The Mr. and Miss SFA titles are awards presented each year by the SFA Alumni Association to exemplary students who represent and promote SFA. Recipients are selected based on their scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and co-curricular activities, citizenship and service and loyalty to the university.

Rodriguez said being named Miss SFA is a great opportunity to represent the university, and she is thankful for those who helped her in obtaining this opportunity.

"It's a pretty humbling experience," Rodriguez said. "I didn't get there by myself, and it's a great honor."

Rodriguez is majoring in elementary education and Spanish. She holds memberships in Student Activities Association, Student Government Association and Omicron Delta Kappa.

Bonessi was surprised when Misty Blackburn, from the Alumni Association called him in early December.

"I really didn't expect it," Bonessi said. "It was an honor to be picked for something that I've worked my entire SFA career for. I feel really fortunate."

He graduates in May and plans to attend graduate school. Bonessi is majoring in nutrition, and wants to use his degree to get a job in the healthcare administration. Like Rodriguez, Bonessi is no stranger to being part of several organizations. He is a member of the Residence Hall Association, president of Sigma Chi, a former instructor for SFA 101 and 2007 Homecoming King.

Even though Bonessi did not meet Rodriguez till after the phone call, he was impressed with her personality and felt she would accomplish much more than Miss SFA.

"She is a really nice, intelligent person with a very future ahead of her," Bonessi said.

Welcoming Dr. Peck

New Dean of Student Affairs

Dr. Adam Peck recently joined the staff at SFA as the new dean of student affairs. Before accepting his position, he worked at Saint Louis University as the director of student life. He started on January 7, 2008.

"I'm really excited about helping the students at SFA," Peck said, "I've enjoyed getting to meet some of them." As the dean, he will oversee the development and management of various student-centered programs, spanning from counseling and career services to student activities and student life. Peck said he wants to create a lively experience for students that attend SFA. His job is to create a cohesive environment within the Student Affairs department.

"SFA has a great staff. People care very deeply about students at this university," he said.

Peck interviewed for the position in November and was hired by Steve Westbrook, vice president for university affairs.

"I've always admired SFA," he said, "I knew it was the type of environment with which I wanted to be associated."

Peck set aside two hours each week for students to come to his office and visit with him. Students can come to his office on Mondays and Fridays from 1 to 2 p.m. His office is located on the third floor of the Baker Pattillo Student Center in room 3.105. "They can always find a listening ear here," Peck said.

Peck has a Ph.D. in higher education administration from the University of Texas. He also has a M.A. in communication studies from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and a B.A. in theatre from Lewis University in Illinois.

Along with working at Saint Louis University, Peck has also worked at the University of Texas as senior student affairs administrator. He was also director of student activities at both Texas Lutheran University and McKendree College in Illinois.

Big Dreams, Big Dip

Dipped in SFA Pride

More than 120 students showed their purple pride during the fall “The Big Dip” ceremony Dec. 7 near the Stephen F. Austin statue in Sesquicentennial Plaza.

The event, which is designated as the University’s official Mentor Ring presentation ceremony, began at noon and was heralded by the enthusiastic music of SFA’s Roarin’ Buzzsaws.

In 2003, former SFA President Dr. Tito Guerrero institutionalized the Big Dip to be held on Friday of “Dead Week” of each fall and spring semester. The largest ring ceremony to date occurred in December 2006 when 191 students dipped their hand.

The “Big Dip” refers to being “dipped in pride” before students receive their Mentor Ring. When the presentation ceremony concept originated in 2001, members of the Student Foundation Association wanted to create a unique ritual for students to share before getting their rings. The students came up with the idea of dyeing a hand purple as a way of being “dipped in pride.”

The Mentor Ring program pairs students in their junior and senior years with successful SFA alumni in mentor-type relationships. Students who purchase the Mentor Ring can decide whether or not to participate in the mentoring program. Since the program’s start, more than 120 SFA alumni have signed on to serve as mentors. Some mentors interact with more than one student at a time.

According to figures from the SFA Alumni Association, approximately 2,800 Mentor Rings have been sold since the official ring program launched during Homecoming 2001. The ring design incorporates symbols and features specifically chosen to capture the SFA experience.

Step into the Real World

Graduation is not only a major accomplishment in the life of a college student; it is the “small step” that signifies a college student’s “giant leap” from academia into the real world of jobs, bills and happily ever after.

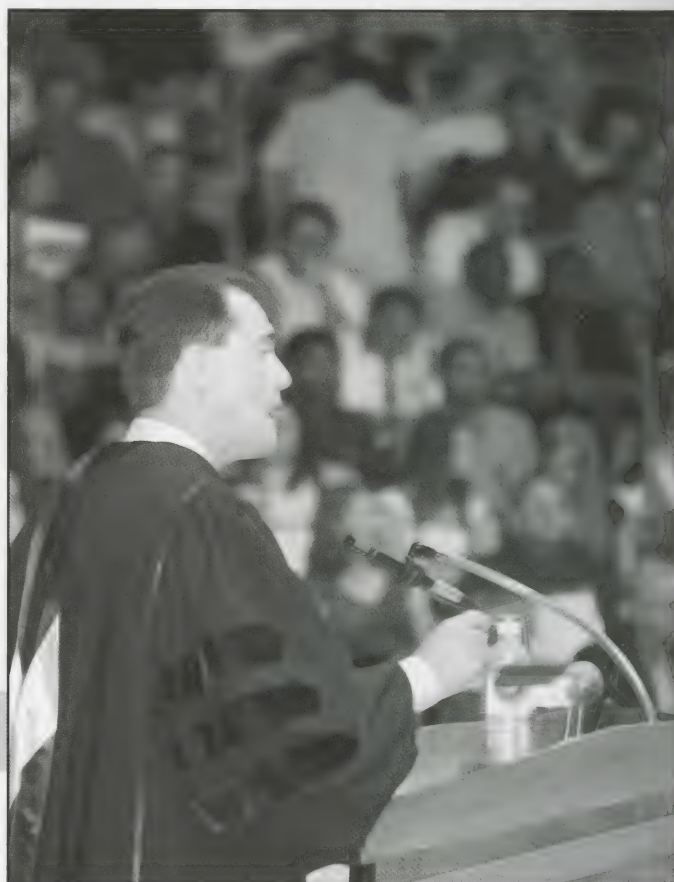

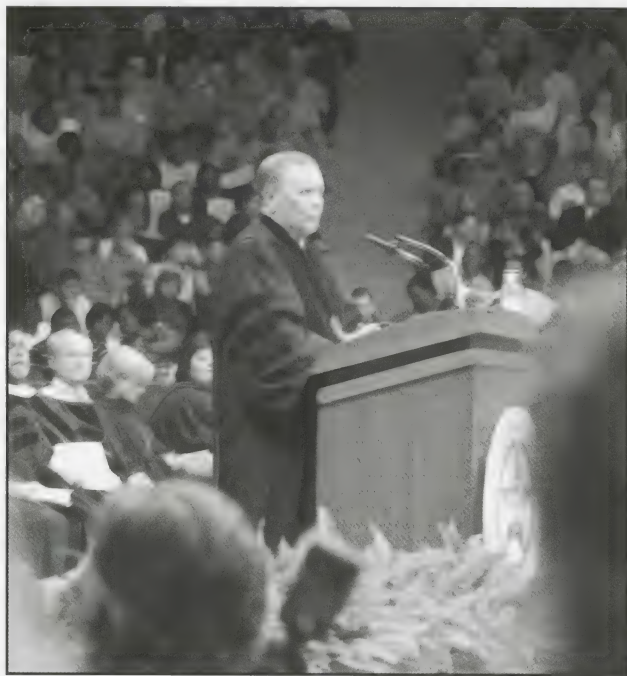

At the end of every semester, SFA students don their caps and gowns and flock to the William R. Johnson Coliseum to participate in the commencement ceremony. “SFA graduation is special because all graduating students participate in the same ceremony. Not only do we celebrate our own graduation, but we get to watch our friends walk across the stage too,” said Jonathan Yates, Douglass graduate student and May 2007 graduate.

That is not the only reason that this year’s graduation was special. On May 12, 2007, SFA made Lumberjack history when more than 1,100 degrees were awarded during the commencement ceremony, including 875 bachelor’s degrees, 251 master’s degrees and nine doctoral degrees in education. More than 800 degrees were awarded by SFA in December, including 731 bachelor’s degrees, 100 master’s degrees, one doctorate in forestry, and nine doctorates in education.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Todd Staples spoke at the May commencement ceremony. After three terms as state representative, Staples was elected to the Texas Senate in 2000. While in the Senate, Staples served on the Senate Natural Resources Committee and was chairman of the Senate Transportation and Homeland Security Committee.

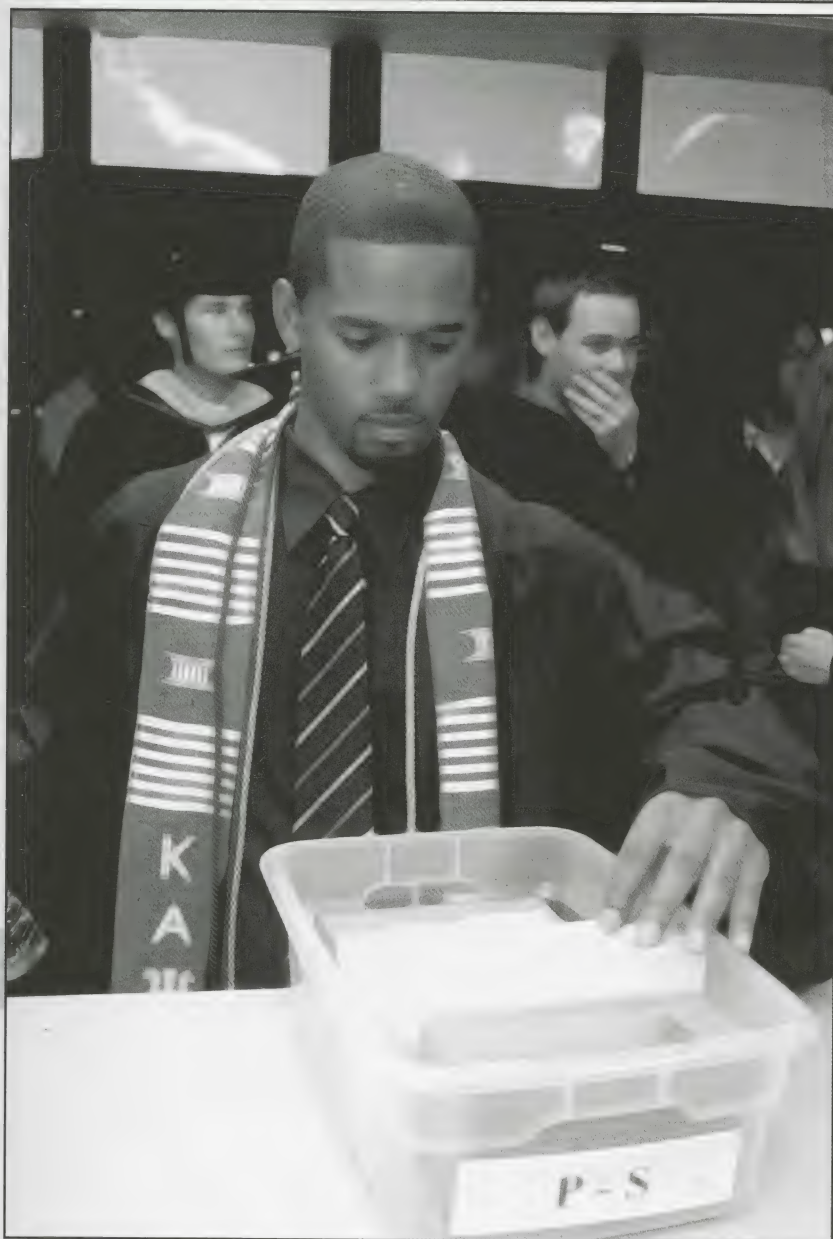

Sen. Judith Zaffirini delivered the commencement address at the December 2007 graduation ceremony. Representing the 21st Senatorial District since 1987, Zaffirini is the second highest-ranking state senator and the highest-ranking woman and Hispanic in the Senate.

Graduation is an event that allows students to look back on their accomplishments. “When I earned my bachelor’s degree, my parents were proud. When I earned my Master’s degree, I was proud of myself,” said Ricky Smith, May 2007 graduate. Lisa Garner, December 2007 graduate, reminisced about her favorite part of graduation. “The most exciting moment during graduation is right before you walk across that stage and shake those hands. It’s a moment when you know you have accomplished something great.”

Multicultural Center

Making a Difference

The Multicultural Center (MCC) is a division of the Office of Student Affairs that provide educational programming and services to the SFA community, that promotes respect for diverse cultures, and that enhances student success in a global community. The Multicultural Center accomplishes this task by sponsoring cultural holiday celebrations such as Hispanic Heritage Month, Native American Month, Black History Month, and its annual Diversity Week. Other cultural programs include panel discussions, film and video presentations, and lectures on cultural and diversity related issues. The Multicultural Center provides leadership development opportunities by sponsoring student participation in local and regional conferences, seminars and workshops, and community service projects. The Multicultural Center also offers Peer Mentorship, Holiday Mentors, and also sponsors the SFA Go Center and G-Force. The Go Center provides educational services to students and their families that encourage and help them to attend college.

The student organizations currently affiliated with the Multicultural Center include the African Student Organization (ASO), International Student Association (ISA), Native American Student Association (NASA), Organization of Latin Americans (OLA), The African American Student Association (TAASA).

The Multicultural Center also serves as a study area with a computer lab, internet access, free laser printing, and convenient hours. It houses a small library of books, videotapes, periodicals, and other multicultural resources. Students, staff and community members are welcome to take advantage of our programs and services.

Leading By Example

MCC goes to Conferences

This past spring, the Multicultural Center (MCC) provided several opportunities for student leaders to travel outside Nacogdoches and enhance their leadership skills. In January, Texas A&M hosted the 20th annual Southwestern Black Student Leadership Conference. Shortly after, Wiley College sponsored the second annual Ethical Student Leadership Conference.

Ten students represented SFA at Texas A&M. These students gained an abundance of knowledge that will help them to better the student community on campus. The students participated in workshops that relate to today's African American society and attended inspiring speeches from keynote speakers Dr. Randal Pinkett, author Immaculee Illibagiza, Real World New York cast mate Kevin Powell and University of Kansas Director of Multicultural Affairs Robert N. Page, Jr.

"The conference educated African Americans on their culture and how to be better leaders so that following generations will be able to grow into leaders as well," Joshua Holly, Jasper sophomore said.

Wiley College gave students a chance to take a walk in history as well as realize how ethical thinking plays a major role in being a student leader. On the last day of the conference, Mr. Arthur Tolson, son of original Great Debater coach Melvin Tolson, shared insight on how his father was a true leader and how he always practiced ethical leadership.

Houston junior Monique Davis said, "I felt very honored to be in the presence of the primary source to a piece of history. It was enlightening and made me realize that students shouldn't take their roles as student leaders for granted."

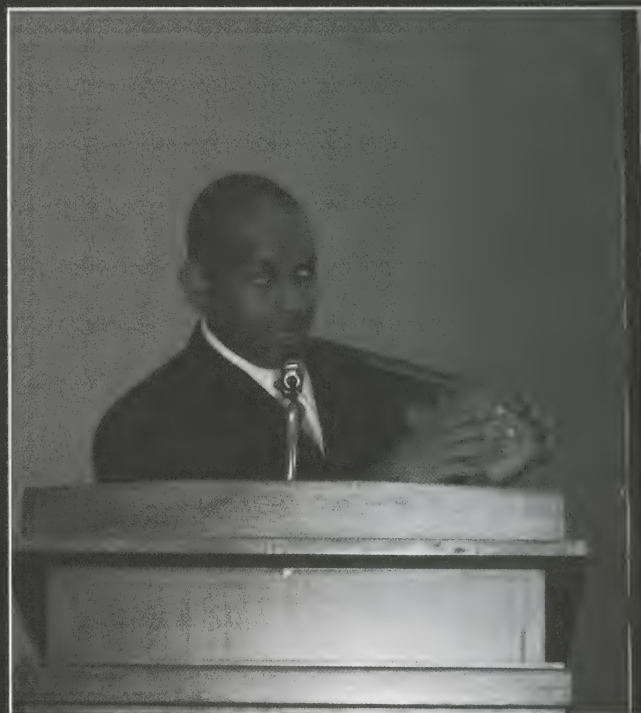

The MCC plans to provide several more opportunities to travel to student leadership conferences in the coming academic year. The MCC encourages students to get involved on campus and step up to make a change by being leaders. By going to several leadership conferences any student can easily start his path to leaving a legacy at SFA.

Urisonya Z. Roberson

Multicultural Center Coordinator

Urisonya Roberson, a native of Houston, is a University of Arkansas- Fayetteville graduate with a master's degree in higher education administration. In 2001, she graduated from Jackson State University with a bachelor's degree in speech communication studies. Her academic pursuits are in the areas of cultural studies, the African Diaspora and diversity issues.

Upon arriving to SEASU, Urisonya worked in Student Affairs at Texas Tech University as a Residence Life Coordinator and Diversity Committee/ Recognition Committee Chair, Washington University in St. Louis as a Residential College Director and University of Arkansas- Fayetteville as University Apartment Manager/ Graduate Assistant. Urisonya's experiences have allowed her to do what she loves; working with students and being a part of their growth process.

She especially enjoys helping students find their own "genius." She is a strong advocate for multiculturalism and diversity and is continuing to learn and open her mind to new ideas and concepts. Urisonya has helped many students grow into leaders, prepared for the real world and life after college.

"The thing I enjoy most about working at SFA is experiencing the 'teachable moments' with students," she said.

She believes students should get involved on campus and enjoy their learning process. Not only should students enjoy the time spent in college, the professionals, like Urisonya, should also enjoy the lasting moments.

"Learning is reciprocal in the area of student development, as student affairs professionals we are teaching our students as well as having the constant opportunity to learn from them."

As someone who is extremely interested in diversity and multiculturalism, Urisonya is admired by many students. As a mentor to students on campus, she also suggests students choose a mentor who is successful in their field of interest and to stick with them.

"I want to leave a legacy of servant leadership, a collaborative spirit of unity and a desire to seek cultural experiences. Along with that I would love to see a campus wide community of change and awareness of global issues," Roberson said.

Alpha Phi Omega & The Bonfire Tradition

On Friday, Oct. 26, students, faculty and family gathered like moths to a flame to celebrate the annual SFA Bonfire at the Intramural Fields. The members of Alpha Phi Omega (APO) huddled together in pride as their creation blazed against the dark sky.

APO, the co-ed service fraternity responsible for the bonfire, started planning for the Homecoming event a year in advance. "The bonfire has been a tradition at SFA for a long time," Chastity Brateley, Dallas junior, said. "The SFA APO chapter has coordinated the bonfire since 1961."

The bonfire stack was roughly three stories high, according to Brateley. For a week, members started their day as early as 8 a.m., hauling and piling wood stack after wood stack until nightfall. Between 45 and 50 members dirtied their hands and shoes to build the massive wooden structure that would become the 2007 Homecoming bonfire around which a swarm of purple shirts would gather.

The current APO members were not the only ones who attended the bonfire to celebrate all the hard work that went into its creation; alumni members were also in attendance. "Alumni members came to celebrate the hard work through which they themselves once labored to achieve this school custom," Brateley said. "The bonfire is not just a school tradition but also a community one. People from all over East Texas join SFA students to watch the bonfire."

"Building the bonfire is a tradition we look forward to each semester," Brateley said. "It's a good bonding experience for APO members."

SFA Digs Sand Volleyball

Student Activities Association provides more than 100 events a semester outside of the classroom in which students may participate. One of the events they provided for students during the Fall 2007 semester was a volleyball tournament at the new Student Recreation Center.

"Can you dig it?" was the first event held at the new outdoor sand volleyball courts. "It was fun and a privilege to be the first to break in the courts at the new rec center and I would love to have more events held there." said SAA member Jonathan Cooks. The event lasted five hours with 11 teams competing to win the first place prize of $300, which was awarded to the Skillz Elite co-ed team. The teams that placed in the top three received free t-shirts to commemorate the event.

Everyone was able to enjoy free food at the event. SAA grilled more than 350 hamburgers and gave out drinks to those who participated and who came out to watch the event.

SAA members enjoyed holding the event outside at the courtyards. "I loved having the event outside. We had great weather for it and I hope to have more events at the volleyball courts." said Kendra Rogers "I appreciate all the help provided by the SAA members and the staff at the recreation center." "Can you dig it?" provided a fun competition for all students who participated and allowed those students to be the first to break in the volleyball courts.

Martin Luther King

Candlelight Vigil

The Multicultural Center (MCC) sponsored the Martin Luther King Jr. Vigil from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on January 28th 2008 at the Patillo Student Center (PSC). The celebration commemorated one of the most influential leaders of the civil rights movement.

Students gathered outside of the PSC and lit candles to honor the famous martyr. An estimated 200 people attended, said Alicia Millard, secretary of the MCC.

Afterward, students gathered in the movie theater to listen to the memory of King and how people must still keep his dream alive.

The John Tyler High School choir and Soul to Soul, a student Gospel choir, will perform for students and faculty. Kent Willis, SGA president, gave a speech inside the theater.

"Martin Luther King Jr. is the pioneer of the civil rights movement," Willis said. "As college students we have to step up and be one."

He addressed issues not only dealing with how people and things are treated unfairly but also how certain people and things are not treated at all.

"We have to team up against the things that we don't discriminate," Willis said.

He brought up issues like child abuse and pirating which he said go neglected. Willis said people should not stop at just learning to come together. Once two or more opposing sides are one, they should go after other issues which leave people divided and abused. He said he would like to use this opportunity to address these issues to SFA students and faculty.

Resident Hall Association Fall Festival

Lots of students showed up dressed in their best Halloween costumes for RHA's annual Fall Festival for the SFA campus and Nacogdoches community. This year's festival was held just before Halloween in the courtyard of the newly renovated Pattillo Student Center. "This year we had close to 500 people attend," RHA President Laterious Starks said.

Every residence hall participated and had an individual booth set up. Booths included the cakewalk, moon walk, ring toss, balloon shaving and paint-a-pumpkin. At the end of the event, a costume contest was held, with prizes including a Nintendo DS, three iPod Nanos and several Blockbuster gift cards given to the winners.

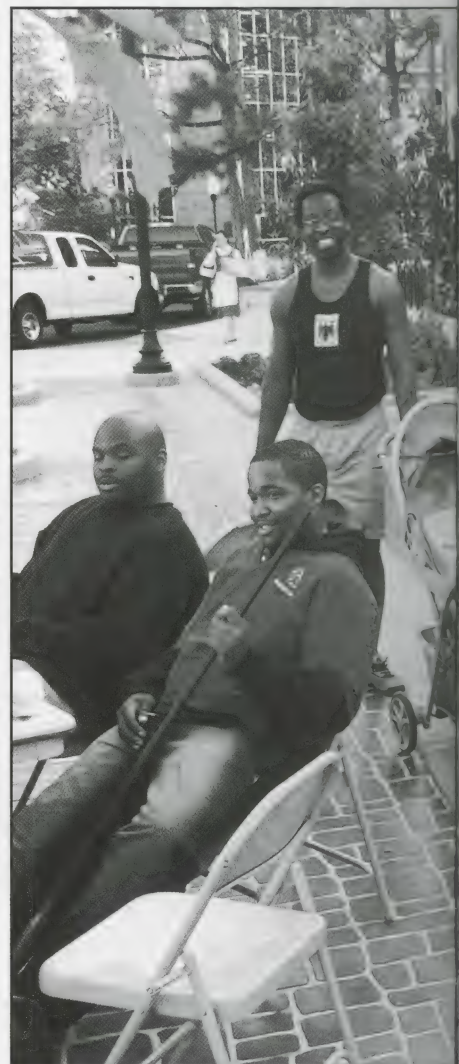

"With the community being invited, RHA's main goal was to bring the SFA campus and the residents of Nacogdoches together as one," Starks explained. RHA found ways to involve the community in the production of the event as well. The Nacogdoches Fire Department gave tours of one of its fire trucks, and the Nacogdoches Police Department set up booths to pass out prizes and information.

"Our main goal is to build community on campus and give the off campus community a chance to come together with SFA to have a good time. This year, our goal was accomplished, and Fall Festival was very successful," Starks said.

Student Government Association

Voice of the Student Body

The Student Government Association of SFA was established to be the voice of the students. The SGA is composed of and administered by students and acts as the representative body of the students at SFA. The purpose of Student Government is three fold.

The Student Government Association strives to be the student voice at SFA by introducing legislation on their behalf and acting as a sounding board for ideas. While the SGA does not pass legislation that is binding to university policy, it does have a significant influence. Bills passed in the past five years have addressed issues such as campus lighting, campus safety and the building of the recreation center and student center.

Freedom of Speech

SGA holds Free Speech Day

At its regular monthly meeting in November, SGA discussed a bill regarding "Freedom of Speech Day" authored by Sen. Erick Jenkins of the College of Education. As stated in the Bill, the purpose of Freedom of Speech Day was to inform students that the entire campus of SFA is an open public forum to discuss any sort of issues.

On Tuesday, Nov. 13, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. SGA sponsored the event in front of the PSC. All students were welcome to participate and share their points-of-view.

"It seems like they need a moderator at times because of all the petty fighting, but some good points were made."

One Action Packed Year

A look at SAA's events

From Welcome Week to Spring Fest, The Students Activities Association, SAA, kept everyone busy with something to do this past year. SAA hosted weekly events ranging from Guitar Hero tournaments to shows with famous guests such as comedian Arvin Mitchell and poet Bridget Gray.

This year was the first year for the organization to host the movie series at the PSC movie theatre. Every weekend, with the exception of Showcase Saturdays and holidays, SAA screened two movies, such as Superbad and Remember the Titans, which were open for students and the community.

Aside from weekend movies, the organization held a Coffee House Tuesdays at Starbucks. This series consisted of open mic and karaoke nights. This was the time for students to showcase their vocal talents and just have a good time.

During Parent's Day weekend in September, SAA invited comedian Arvin Mitchell back to the Twilight Ballroom for a night full of jokes and laughs. This event created a family fun atmosphere with SFA students and their parents.

Not only did SAA utilize the PSC, but they also held events at the new Student Recreation Center and the Commuter Parking Lot during Lumberjack Alley. The recreation center was home to the first 'Can You Dig It?' sand volleyball tournament, which was held during the grand opening of the sand volleyball courts. During Lumberjack Alley, the organization held 'Buck 'Em Up', and event that featured a mechanical bull.

All events put on by SAA were free of charge, except for movies which were $1 for admission. Free food and drinks, as well as prizes, were given away at most events.

SAA Presents... Open Mic Night

With activities in the new Baker Pattillo Student Center in full swing this year, a new kind of entertainment—SAA Open Mic Night—became popular. Held throughout the semester every few Tuesdays, SAA gave students the chance to come out and showcase their talent.

“Open Mic Night allows students to entertain themselves, have fun and get up in front of a crowd to entertain them as well,” Lauren Miller, SAA vice president, said.

During open mic, participants took the spotlight to sing, play their musical instruments or read poetry. The event lasted for as long as an hour or two, and each participating student received a complimentary SAA drink holder, two free movie tickets and a coupon for a free coffee provided by Starbucks.

The concept was developed by former SAA president Ryan Horn and has been going on for the past three years. Before the relocation to the PSC Starbucks, the event took place at Einstein Brothers at Steen Library. The event has continued to be successful, and SAA plans to continue the Tuesday night tradition.

Miller said, “It has been very successful this year, and in the coming semesters it will be held the last Tuesday of each month.”

Creating Lumberjack Spirit

Orientation Leaders assist newcomers

Every summer, high school graduates fill the SFA campus in hopes of finding out what SFA is all about. To help them on this mission are some of the campus' finest citizens, Orientation Leaders.

Orientation Leaders are responsible for the planning of orientation and they also serve as reliable sources for incoming freshmen and their parents.

"Preparing for the event is a year long process, honestly, but when the last few months of the spring semester come around, then it's crunch time," Christina Moreno, Student Coordinator, said.

Throughout the three day event orientation leaders assist prospective students with choosing classes and times, discuss different majors, and the student life here on campus and how to get involved. Everyone who attends sessions during the summer stay in the Steen residence hall, which gives them a sense of what living on campus feels like.

In order to help everyone become comfortable with the new college experience orientation leaders and the students played different ice breaker games to open up and have a little bit of fun.

Student Coordinator Fran Tierno said, "Most of the ice breakers are for us, OLs, to build bonds. Like in our 'Real World' session, we want the parents and students to be open with us because the things we talk about regarding college are literally real."

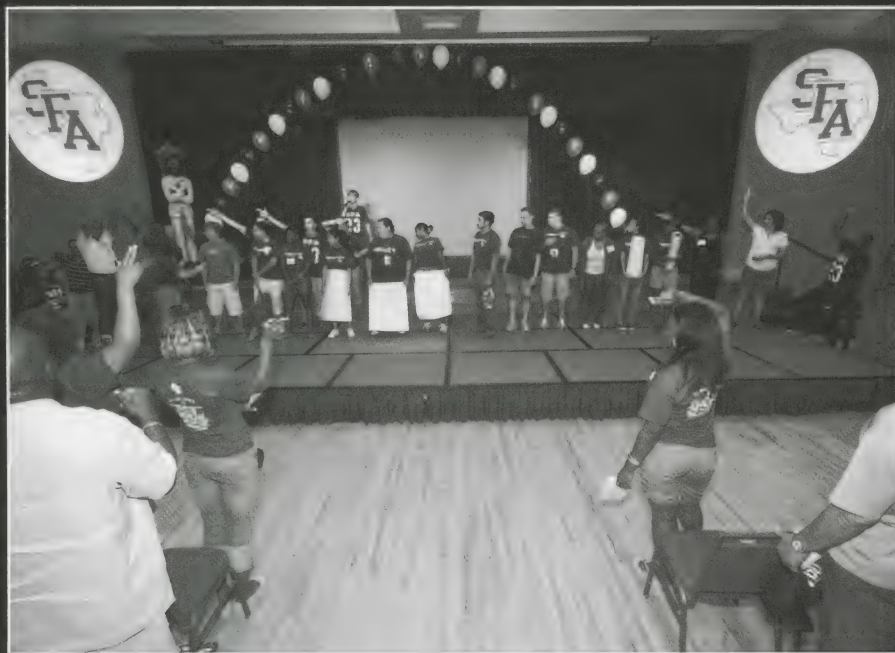

Aside from summer orientation, orientation leaders also assist with Showcase Saturday during both academic semesters and are involved in various organizations on campus. Being an orientation leader takes a lot of hard work and long hours during the spring semester and summer to prepare for everything.

"In the end all the hard work pays off, especially during all of the work weeks," Moreno said.

Beverly Farmer

Student Activities Director

Beverly Farmer started her career at SFA in 1983 as the head resident of Gibbs Hall. Today, she is the Student Activities Director for the entire campus.

As director, one of Farmer's main objectives is to help students get involved on campus. "When students are pushed to get involved, it forces them to express themselves on important issues and decide which organizations interest them. As a result, I often get to help students realize their dreams," Farmer said.

Throughout the years, Farmer has seen many generations pass through SFA. She takes pleasure in noticing the differences between each one and learning how to reach out and accommodate them. According to Farmer, the biggest change in recent generations is the increase in the number of active clubs on campus. "It's very important that students feel like they can be involved in a club that personally fits their interests and passions," she said. "The size of the club is not the important issue. If the students in that club are dedicated, they deserve support from SFA."

Farmer has watched new residence halls sprout from the ground as they replace their predecessors. "The biggest evolution at SFA since the beginning of my career is the construction of all the new buildings. In the past, I have seen SFA house up to 400 students in hotel rooms because of room shortages in the residence halls," recalls Farmer. She believes the addition of new residence halls enables SFA to accommodate the growing number of students that want to live on campus. On the other hand, the increased demand in campus living may be a direct result of the improved residence halls at SFA.

Throughout Farmer's career, she has helped organize big name concerts and accompanied students on trips to Mexico and Colorado. Farmer has helped the Student Affairs division evolve by creating a more active Greek and campus organization life. According to Farmer, she has never grown tired of working at SFA. In fact, she is excited about the experiences SFA has yet to offer.

Farmer said, "I enjoy every minute of my time at SFA and look forward to many more years of working with students and positive changes on campus."

Accomplishments of a Lumberjack

President Dr. Baker Pattillo

After serving a year as interim president for the University, Dr. Baker Pattillo became the president of SFA in January of 2007.

SFA has been a major part of Pattillo's life for more than 40 years, first as a student, later as an administrator and now as president.

After graduating from SFA, Pattillo joined the university as assistant director of placement and student financial aid in 1966. Subsequently, he was director of placement and student financial aid, dean of student services, vice president for student affairs and vice president for university affairs.

This past year, he was selected to provide leadership for two higher education programs aside from his roles at SFA.

He served on the Texas International Education Consortium and the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board's General Academic Infrastructure Formula Study Committee.

The seven-member executive committee of the Texas International Education Consortium is an organization of 32 Texas universities, which focuses on developing and directing international programs for students.

Pattillo said he was surprised by his appointment for the executive committee since he is a new president of SFA.

"That was the thing that startled me," Pattillo said.

The executive committee meets quarterly, and appointments normally last one year, Pattillo said.

He was also selected to serve on the subcommittee of the Formula Advisory Committee called the General Academic Infrastructure Formula Study Committee. This committee is part of the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board, which was established by Texas legislature in 1965 and creates formulas to distribute funds to Texas institutions of higher education. The "infrastructure" committee was composed of other specialists, business officers and physical plant administrators.

Pattillo said one of the things the committee discussed was utility costs. "If a school has so much square footage, the Texas legislature funds a certain percentage to cover utility costs," he said.

"The infrastructure committee met once a month," Pattillo said.

Even though he worked on these state committees, he said his time was still devoted to SFA.

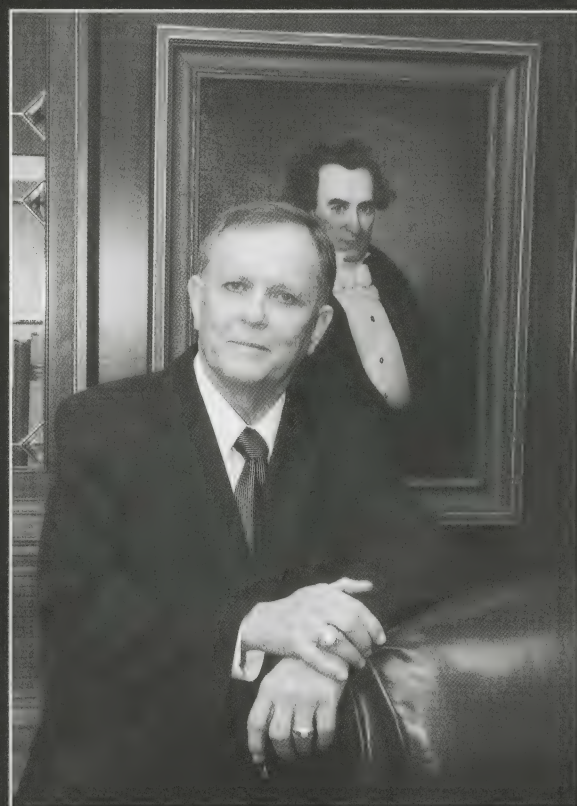

"I would not accept any assignment that would interfere with my time commitment to SFA," Pattillo said. "It's my life."

Board of Regents

Receives a Three-Person Facelift

Governor Rick Perry named three SFA alumni members of the SFA Board of Regents.

Carlos Z. Amaral of Plano, James Hinton Dickerson, Jr., of New Braunfels and John R. Garret of Tyler began their terms in June and will serve as board members until 2013.

The Board of Regents is the nine-member, University governing body. Representatives are appointed by the governor to serve six-year terms, based on their abilities to provide policy direction for the university and to enhance its public image.

Responsibilities of board members include electing all administrators, faculty and professional staff, as well as setting general policies and maintaining a relationship between the campus and the community.

Dr. Baker Patillo, SFA president, said he feels fortunate that alumni are willing to serve their alma mater in a leadership capacity.

"With the success they have enjoyed in their professional endeavors," he said, "they will be valuable additions as we continue our work in assuring the best possible education for SFA students."

Amaral graduated from SFA in 1984 with a bachelor's degree in business administration. He also holds a master's degree in computer science from Texas A&M Commerce and is president and CEO of Sequoia Network Services.

Dickerson graduated in 1968 with a bachelor's degree in chemistry, and later earned a law degree from South Texas College of Law in Houston. He is now retired.

Garret earned a Bachelor of Science degree in biology and chemistry in 1975. After graduating from SFA, he received a Master of Business Administration degree from the University of Texas at Tyler. He serves as CEO of Fair Oil Company, a 70-year old oil and gas production and exploration company, and also as CEO of Fair Management Co., a residential and commercial real estate development company.

In addition to the nine voting regents, a student board member is appointed yearly based on academic standing, general knowledge of board functions and desire to represent all students equally. The current student regent is Stephanie Tracy, a Dayton senior.

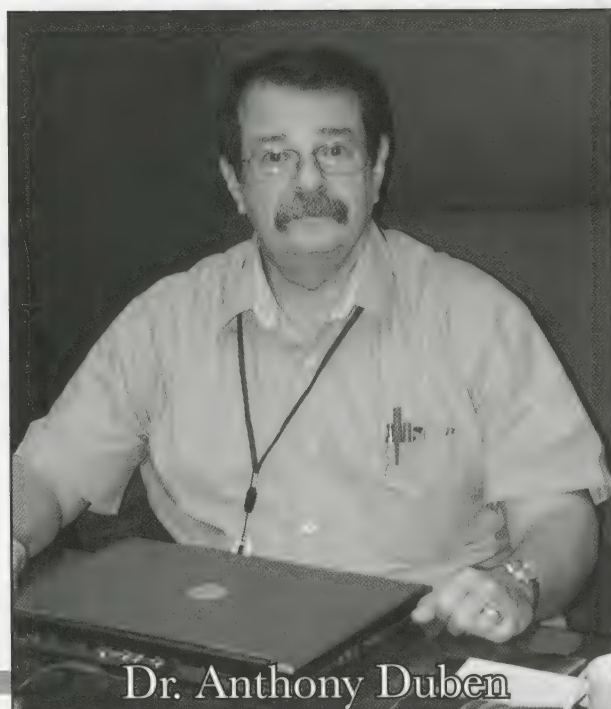

Other board members include Richard B. Boyer, Valerie E. Ertz, Joe Max Green, Paul G. Pond, James A. Thompson and Melvin R. White.

The Board of Regents holds open meetings; any student or community member may attend.

The primary mission of the College of Sciences & Mathematics is teaching to the highest quality at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. The College, through its departments and divisions, attempts to provide its students with the knowledge and skills necessary for life-long learning, an understanding of the world in which we live and the ability to comprehend scientific and mathematical advancements and their benefit to future generations.

To assist in the accomplishment of this mission, the College fosters research and scholarship of the highest quality among the faculty as well. To provide outreach as an educational institution, the College assists its faculty in utilizing their expertise to the benefit of the university community and regional, state, national and international communities.

According to the college's website, a degree from the College of Liberal and Applied Arts is preparation for life, not just a job. Graduates from the College of Liberal and Applied Arts learn to communicate effectively, analyze complex social and cultural issues, make important judgments and formulate strategies that will address the issues of tomorrow. A degree from the College provides excellent preparation for leadership, clinical and public service roles. Nearly all of SFA's native undergraduate students take a significant number of undergraduate courses in the College of Liberal and Applied Arts. The College is home to most of the departments offering courses in the University core curriculum. The College of Liberal and Applied Arts plays a pivotal role in assisting the University to attain an overall academic mission.

Employing high quality instructors, the College also fosters an appreciation for life long learning. Students gain an appreciation of the human condition in all its diversity, as well as an understanding of society, government and social ethics. The intent is to prepare graduates for responsible citizenship. Additionally, the College advances knowledge through quality research and scholarship. It also seeks to use fields of expertise to benefit the community, University, region, and state.

Nursing Expansion

Gov. Perry signs HB 1775 at SFA

An overflow audience gathered in September in Room 307 of the Austin Building to see and celebrate Gov. Rick Perry signing House Bill 1775.

State Sen. Robert Nichols, Rep. Wayne Christian, Rep. Jim McReynolds and members of the Board of Regents were in attendance, along with SFA administrators and others from the campus community.

HB 1775 authorizes $13 million for facility improvements including classrooms, laboratories and faculty offices at the future site of the Richard and Lucille DeWitt School of Nursing.

The DeWitts donated nearly 17 acres of prime real estate and facilities totaling 35,000 square feet for expansion of SFA's nursing program. Regents accepted the gift at their board meeting in January.

The site is appraised at $1.4 million and formerly served as a distribution center for the Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurants owned by the DeWitts.

SFA President Dr. Baker Pattillo said he was told that there would be no tuition revenue bonds granted in the 80th Legislative Session. Since SFA had received $30 million in tuition revenue bonds in the previous session, it was considered highly unlikely that SFA would receive any additional funding. However, Pattillo said he went "door to door" in Austin educating legislators about roles the SFA School of Nursing could play in addressing the shortage of nurses throughout the state and nation.

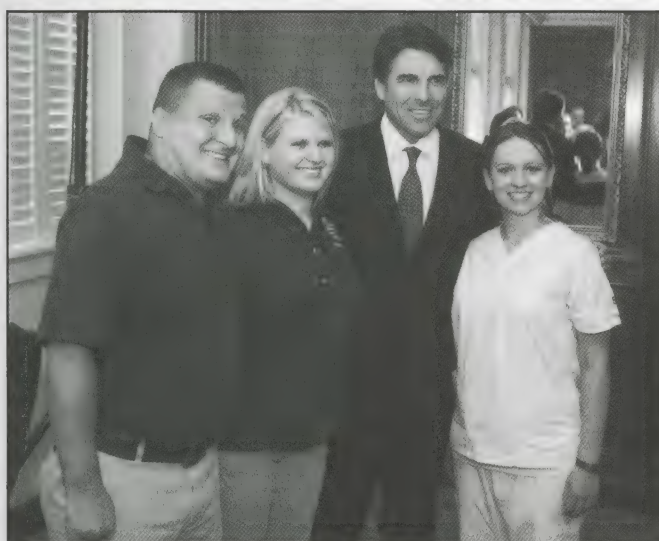

Perry said the gift from Lucille DeWitt and her late husband was very gracious.

"We've planted a seed that's going to grow and serve the state for years to come," he said. "Nursing is a demanding profession that requires long hours, intense study and interacting with those who need a healing touch."

Perry said that too often nursing students have to be turned away, because there is also a shortage of nursing faculty in Texas universities. "This is another shortage the state is working to address," he said.

Dr. Glenda Walker, director of the School of Nursing, said the gift has enabled the school to move forward.

"I was told that the chances of getting $13 million were nil to 0," she said. "It was a miracle, but there were others involved. My 85 year-old mother always said God puts the right people in the right place at the right time. Lucy DeWitt came into my life 15 years ago, and she's been an angel on my shoulder ever since. She donated this property, and the regents accepted it. The right people were in the right place at the right time."

Nelson Rusche College of Business

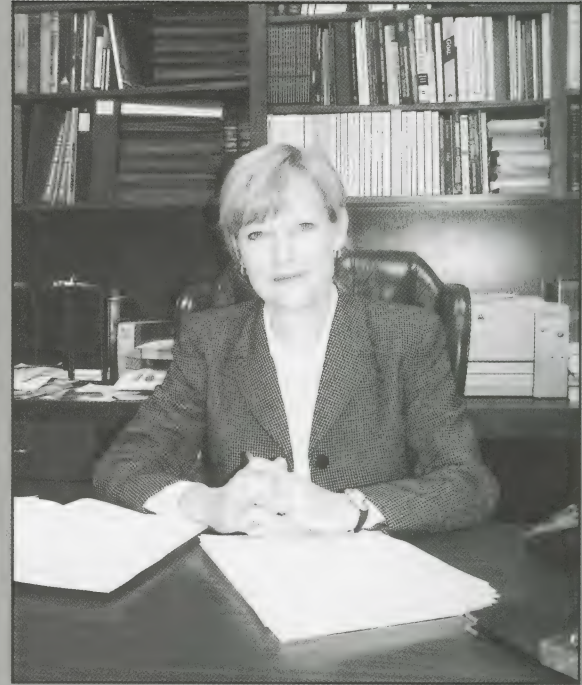

Established as a school in 1968, the College of Business enrolls about 2,500 majors in five academic departments yearly, accounting for 22 percent of the University's population. The college provides a student-focused learning environment through effective teaching, provided by relevant research and meaningful service. The college's vision is to be recognized by students, graduates and other stakeholders as a leading college of business among regional comprehensive universities in Texas.

This past year, Dr. Treba Marsh received a national award naming her as an outstanding adviser within Beta Alpha Psi, an organization established within the College of Business.

"The award means I was recognized for going above and beyond the call of duty for a number of years," Marsh said.

Marsh believes the award is the result of more than the influence of an adviser and claims the students' hard work is the real source of the organization's high standing.

Other organizations in the College of Business include, Alpha Omega, the Finance Club, American Marketing Association, and Beta Gamma Sigma.

James I. Perkins College of Education

The SFA College of Education includes the Schools of Elementary Education, Human Sciences, Human Services, Secondary Education, Educational Leadership, and Kinesiology and Health Science. The College's mission is to be accessible, accommodating, approachable. The College is accessible to prospective and current students and strives to accommodate students' needs on their pathways to success. The College is committed to academic excellence through critical, reflective and creative thinking, life-long learning and service that enriches the community.

The College has advised more than 2,500 students and has admitted more than 1200 students to the Educator Certification Program along with 500 individuals who were recommended. This past year, the College reached a new high of $18 million in active grants, setting a new record for the college.

In May of 2007, Associate Professor in the Department of Secondary Education and Educational Leadership Dr. Julia Ballenger was honored by Phi Delta Kappa with the Educator of the Year award. Along with Dr. Ballenger, Dr. Sandra Cole was named Who's Who Among American Women and Who's Who Among America's Teachers. And most recently, the College became known as the James I. Perkins College of Education following unanimous approval by the Board of Regents during a board meeting in October.

Educational Leadership

College of Fine Arts

The College of Fine Arts is a professional and academic unit of SFA, composed of graduate and undergraduate programs of the School of Art, the School of Music and the School of Theatre. All programs are nationally accredited.

The College provides the leadership, resources and expertise to assure effective teaching, relevant research and scholarship, excellent creative activity, meaningful service, and high quality arts programming.

The theme for the 2007-2008 season was "Passport to the Arts." As the theme indicates, the College developed an exciting itinerary that took the arts community, among other places, to the United Kingdom for Celtic fiddling and plays from both Scotland and England, to the Far East for Taiwanese-influenced dance and Japanese-infused art, to Russian galleries and churches to view religious icons, and to the concert stages across the globe. This also included fabulous stops in our own great country: an exhibition of American made quilts, musical concerts devoted to American composers, and American jazz and theatrical works by American playwrights, old and new.

Beyond many performances and exhibitions of the College's academic program, the University Series brought quality touring events to the greater East Texas community. Some of the events this year included International Sejong Soloists (string ensemble), Borealis Wind Quintet (2006 Grammy nominee for chamber music), Roger Shimomura: American Foreigner (exhibition at the Center at The Old Opera House), and children's theatre including The Little Mermaid, Winnie the Pooh and Cinderella.

In addition, the new dean brought new interdisciplinary collaborative initiatives aimed at taking the College to the next level of excellence.

SFA Alumnus Hardy Meredith

You may have seen a man on with a camera in his hand taking pictures, or you may have even had your picture taken by him. You may already know him personally. Hardy Meredith is the University's Public Affairs Coordinator of Photographic Services and has held the position for several years.

Hardy has been a part of the Lumberjack family since the spring of 1978, the year he transferred from Brazosport Junior College. Shortly after his transfer to SFA he became a member of The Pine Log and Stone Fort photography staffs. After being on staff through the 1980-1981 year he became chief photographer.

Being a member of The Pine Log opened doors for Hardy. During his time as chief photographer he interned on the weekends at the Tyler Morning Telegraph, which gave him the information, skills and confidence he later used as photographer for the Nacogdoches Daily Sentinel. He remembers the first big story he covered, the Tyler Junior College school fire.

"While all the other photographers were getting pictures of the actual fire, I had the luck of getting pictures of the guys that started the fire being arrested," he said.

Now the University's photographer he is the man behind most of the amazing pictures that are seen on everything from the University's website to the sports programs. A typical day for Hardy consists of taking photos around the campus and at scheduled events such as Steps or the grand opening of the new Student Recreation Center.

Aside from capturing current photos, he stays busy working on projects that will be produced the following semester or year. Staying busy is a key for Hardy. The media guides and programs that are purchased at football games are worked on about a year in advance. "Most people think I just sit in my office doing nothing, but I actually stay busy doing many things year-round," he said.

"I've continue to grow and learn many things as a photographer. I have a pretty good eye," he said. Working to fit the needs of today's technology is also something Hardy focuses on. He says his shooting ability grows with his knowledge.

Being a photographer for the University comes with many perks. This past year Hardy received three awards for his photos at the annual conference for the Council for Advancement and Support of Education. Hardy enjoys the life of a photographer. "I love my job, I'm content with what I am doing now," he said.

Brilliance & Insanity

Dr. Austin, rap music as poetry

When Dr. Norjaun Austin was 12 years old, he said he received a stereo for Christmas. That morning, his mother was amazed by all the buttons and knobs on the stereo and wondered how they all worked. Dr. Austin wanted to show off his gift, so he invited his friends to come over to see it. Soon, he said the song, "Lottie Dottie" vibrated through his room. He assumed the song was the edited version, but soon realized his error when one explicit line blasted out from the speakers. His mother rushed to the room, took his stereo and immediately asked his friends to go home. After that, Austin said he only remembered how sore he was after leaving the room.

Dr. Norjuan Q. Austin, SFA assistant professor and director of English education, teaches African American Literature: Rap Music as Poetry, which is a 300-level course. The course is like and writing intensive English poetry course. Students learn about similes, metaphors, rhyme schemes and had to refer to other pieces of work that are cited in lyrics.

"Rap musicians do exactly what poets do," Austin said.

Dr. Austin recalls seeing the beauty of rap music, not just as entertainment, conveying a powerful message about economic and social conditions.

"I came of age at a time where most rap music was political," he said.

He said he liked how rap music had progressed over time but does not like how violence, sex and drugs are being "glorified" to the younger audience.

"A lot of our contemporary rap has lost its power for political change," Austin said. "I like the 'keep it real' idea but don't tear up the community."

Dr. Austin stated that he understood that rappers report what they have seen happening in the community, but the rapper should have a responsibility to reflect on what they have seen to do something about it.

"What are you doing to keep the community from becoming this ghost town of liquor and gun stores?" Austin said.

Even though he wishes there were more powerful messages of social change, he still likes that rap music meant is meant to entertain.

His favorite 80's artists include LL Cool J, UGK, Tribe Called Quest, among others. He also likes Jay-Z, Zero, Slim Thug, Chamillionaire and Eminem.

"Eminem is really serious," Austin said. "He has metaphors in his lyrics that can be taken on three different levels."

He said he always wanted to instruct others. He knew from an early age no other profession could have offered him the satisfaction he feels sharing with students.

"I used to teach to stuffed animals when I was a kid," he said.

Austin graduated from SFA with a bachelor's in English. He completed his master's in the same field at SFA between 1998-2000. He earned his English doctorate from Illinois State. While studying at Illinois State, he was a DJ for some clubs three times a week. It was not only just for fun but to earn some extra cash.

"I had to eat," he said.

After he graduated from Illinois State, he came back to the school he loved.

"I've bled purple since '94," he said.

"I've always wanted to be here."

Austin said he could not take credit for the class's debut in the curriculum. The former English department chair, Dr. Barbara Carr, encouraged him to pursue the topic. Carr had made a comment on how every time she saw Tupac, the deceased rapper, he never had a shirt on. She continued to tell Austin these rap songs had deep, analogical lyrics which were reaching the younger generation and he might want to investigate the matter. He was further astonished when Carr told him, "Yeah, you could have a big rap battle like 3 Mile."

Austin said he never would have thought the most senior member of the English department had seen the film, 3 Mile, and wanted him to pursue this topic. However, he got over his shock and was reminded that rap music was not just for "young, black kids," but for everyone to enjoy.

"The course was the brainchild of Dr. Carr," he said.

Austin also teaches children's and young adult's literature as well as English in secondary school. When he is not on campus, he still DJs sometimes on the weekends at the Sports Shack.

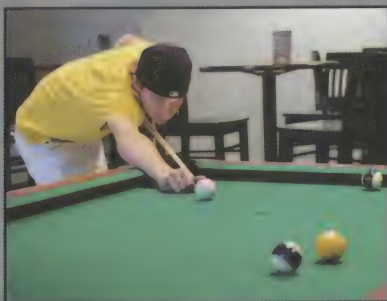

"I would go crazy if I did not [DJ]," he said.

Austin said he felt blessed to be near his family and teach such a specialized course for students to participate.

"You see these kinds of courses in UC Berkeley," he said. "You don't see these in East Texas."

Going to bat for Burney

Krystil Burney, Ladyjack Softball player, took the year off while she recovered from her bout with Hodgkin's Lymphoma, but she was the star in April as she threw out the first pitches of the softball and baseball games.

With Ladyjack catcher Kim Daley behind the plate, Burney threw the softball under her leg to mark the beginning of the festivities.

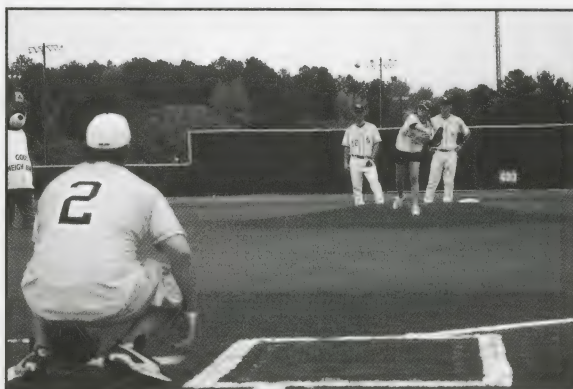

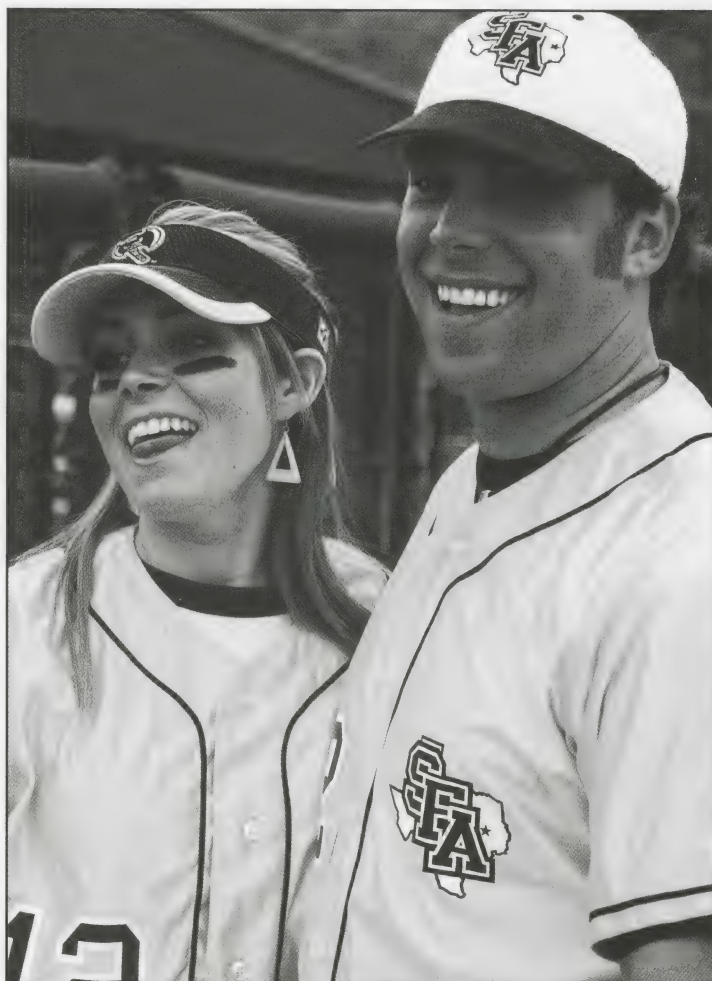

"In the huddle before the game, we said we were going to do this for Burney," Daley said. "She's a true trooper, and we all appreciate being on the field, because we know how much she wants to be out there with us."

On the baseball field, Burney took the mound with Lumberjack Baseball cancer survivors Justin Roland, Rockwall junior, and Jeff Brewer, Washington, Okla., junior, to throw out the first pitch to her brother, Justin, a pitcher for the Lumberjacks.

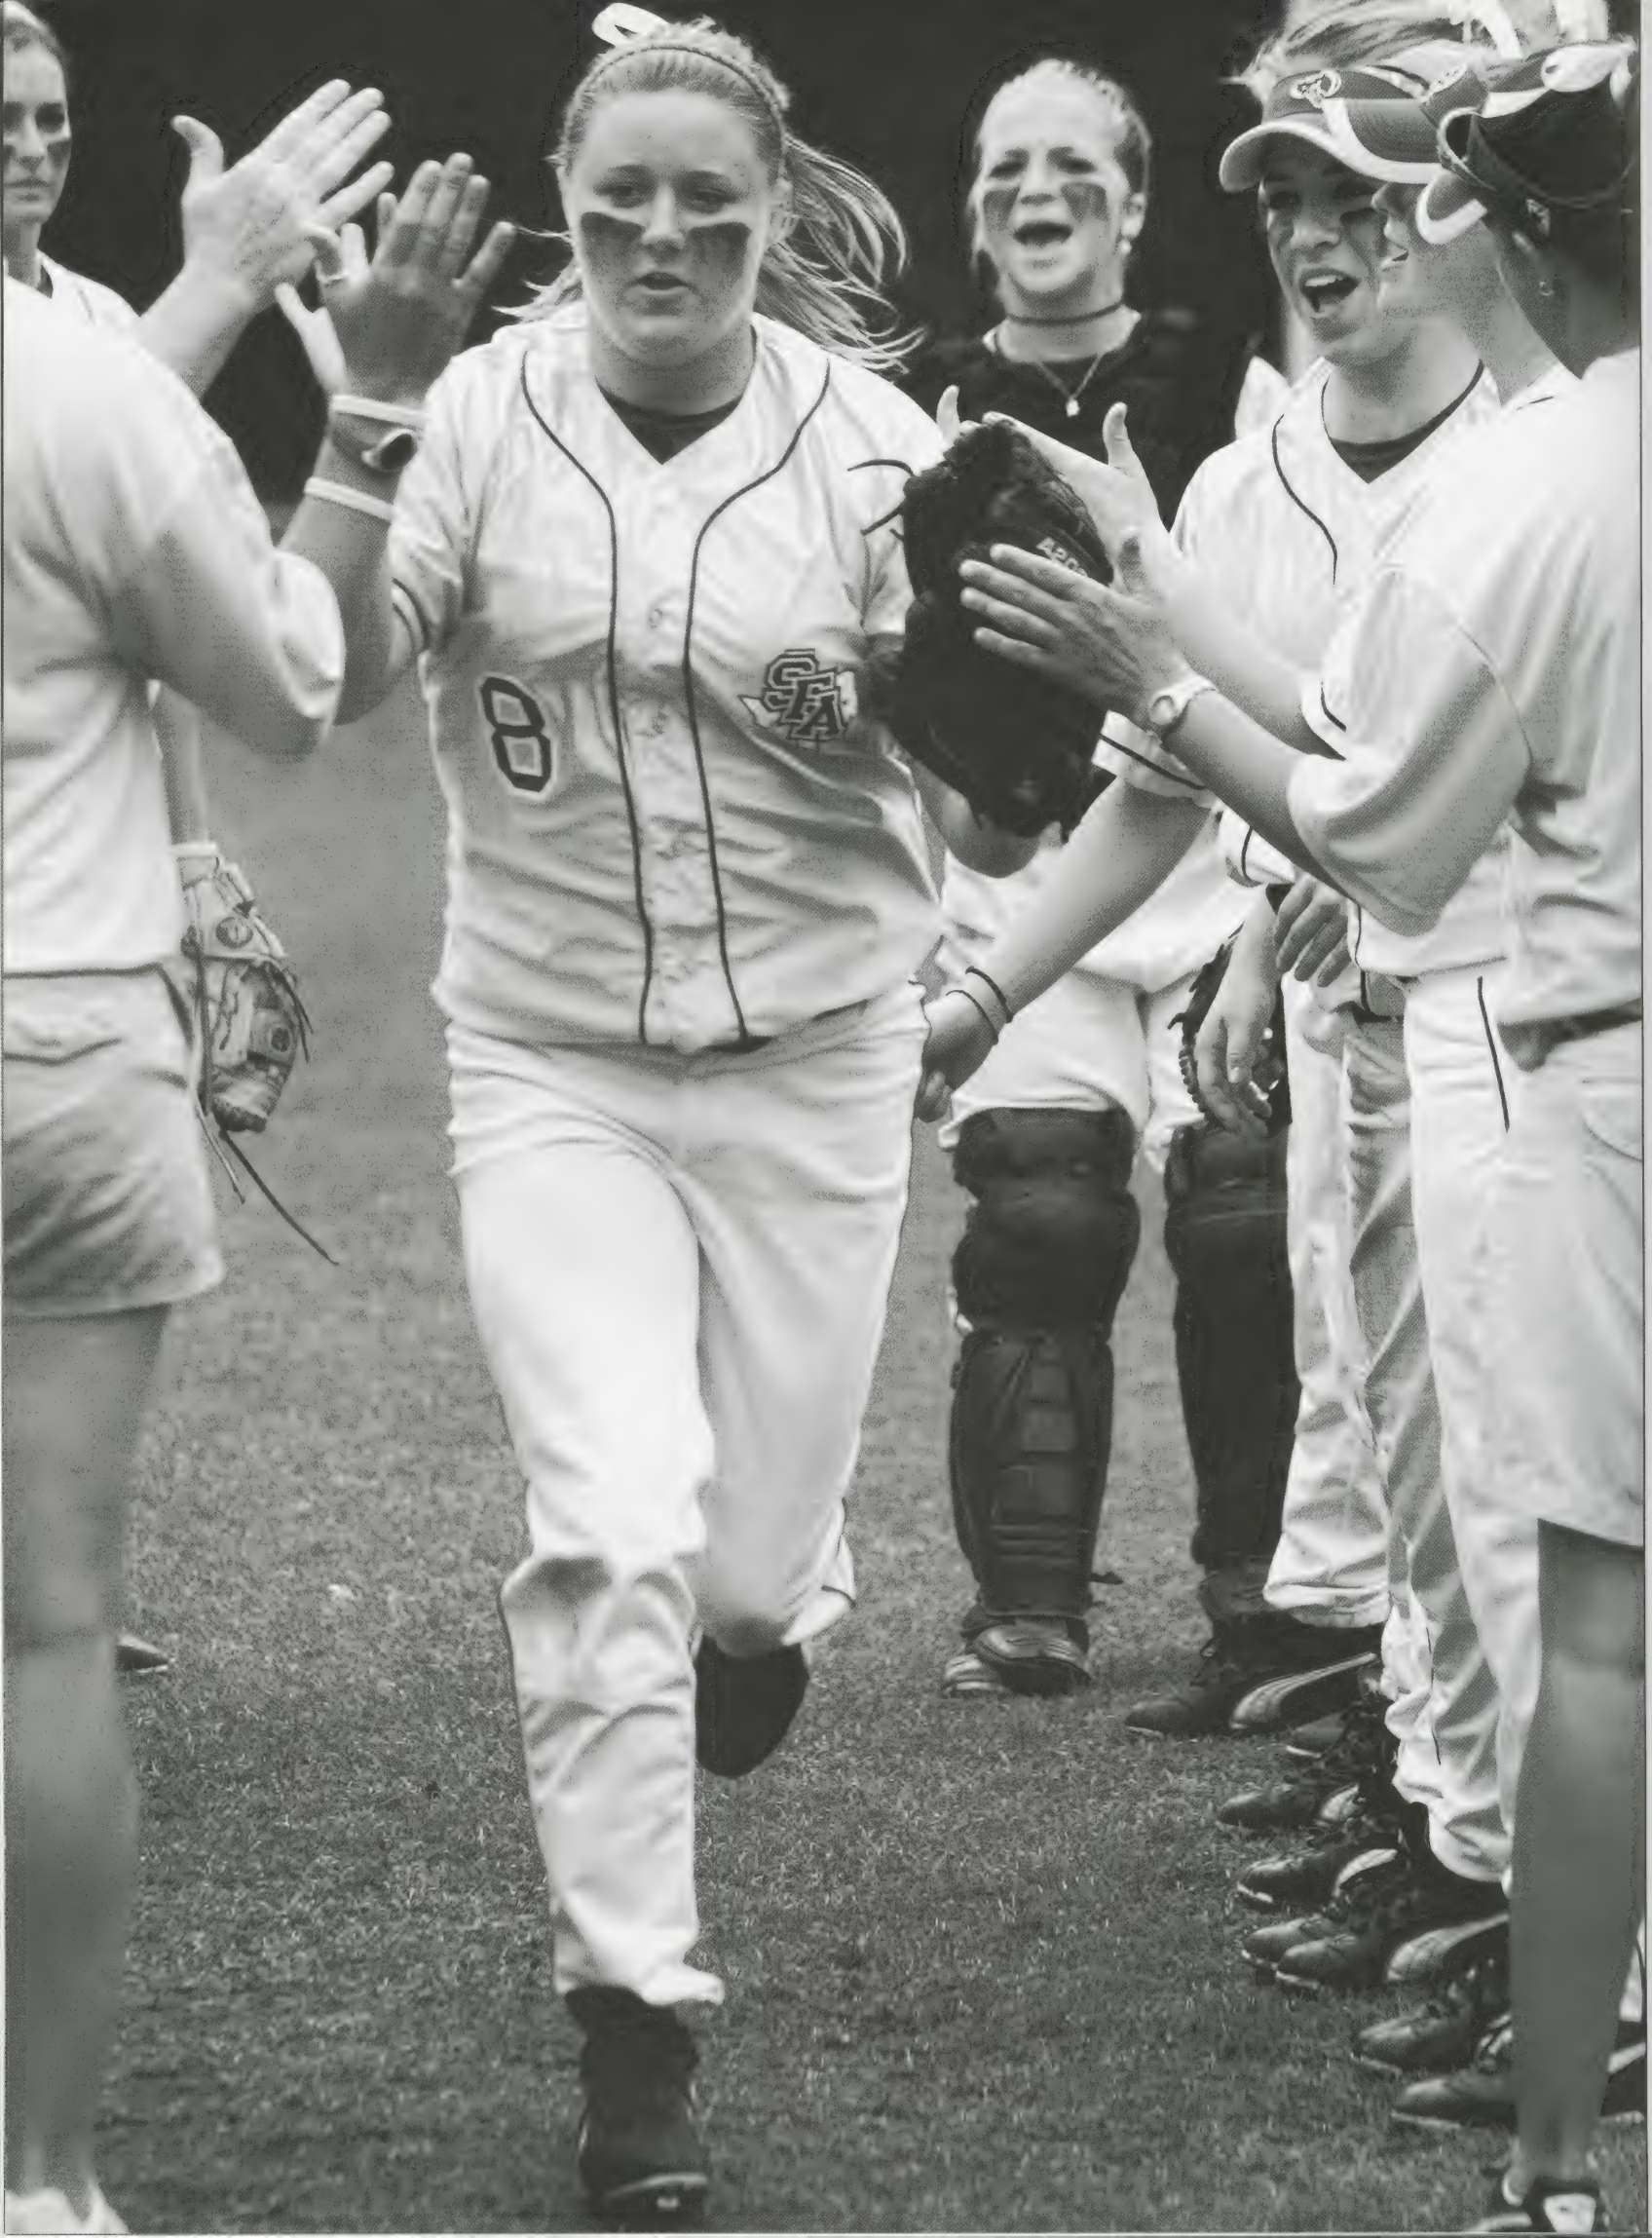

After shaking off the first sign, Burney spit some seeds and made the throw to her brother.

Burney was first diagnosed with Hodgkin's Lymphoma in the spring of 2005. After undergoing radiation and chemotherapy, she returned to the Ladyjack roster for the spring season in 2006 with the cancer in remission. The disease returned late in the season, and Burney endured another round of radiation and chemotherapy while waiting for a bone marrow transplant.

Lumberjack Marching Band

The 2007-2008 season for the Lumberjack marching band featured band growth, out-of-state trips and complicated, interesting musical performances directed and choreographed by Dr. David Campo.

"The band traveled to all of the out-of-state conference games with the football team this semester," said Campo.

The band performed multiple shows, complicated pieces and memorizing hours of rigorous drill. One of their most original shows featured classic car tunes, including Mustang Sally, Little Red Corvette and Baby, and You Can Drive My Car. During the show, the band formed the shape of a car while marching and used fire extinguishers to imitate exhaust fumes.

"It was an incredibly successful season because the number of students in the marching band increased, and positive growth spurs positive growth," said Campo.

In addition, the band performed a Latin show, which provided SFA football games with an ethnic flare. The show featured Malagueña, a fast-paced, rhythmically driven piece with Latin influences.

The band also began each show with a military-style pregame, in which they played American classics, such as The Star-Spangled Banner, Grand Old Flag and Wabash Cannonball.

Lumberjack track coach aims for 2008 Beijing Summer Olympics

Lumberjack assistant track coach Adam Keul is setting the bar high, in more ways than one. The 2002 SFA graduate has pole vaulted since the age of 13 and plans to compete in the 2008 Olympics in Beijing.

Keul realized his dream of being an Olympic athlete was a realistic one as an athlete on the Lumberjack track team. "When I was in school at SFA, I jumped 18' 7.5" which is in the range to qualify," Keul said, "I went to the Olympic tryouts in 2004, but 2008 should be my best chance yet."

Keul spends many of his summers in Europe training for the opportunity to be one of only three Americans selected to represent Team USA. "There might be 10 people who are qualified from the US, but only three are chosen. To be in the top three of that group would be a huge accomplishment and I'd be proud to represent the U.S. It would be a great honor," Keul said.

"It would be wonderful to represent my country," he said. "Especially since the U.S. has the greatest pole vaulters. We've been challenged in the last 20 years, but I believe we're the best."

Not only is Keul excited about possibly representing his home country, but representing his home state as well. "I'm proud of East Texas. This is where I've always wanted to live. I've moved away and come back a couple times. Several people around here have helped me along the way, especially at SFA, high school and all over. It would be awesome for me to say 'thank you', give them a shout out, and make them proud."

Keul often gives speeches about how he got to where he is today. During those speeches, he tells people, "I happened to have found pole vaulting and have been good at it for a long time. I was gifted and worked hard, but I was made for it. Not everyone's made to be an NFL player even though they think they are. I tell people to find something you're world-class at doing. It may be basket weaving or mowing lawns, but if you're good at it, people are going to respect what you're doing. It's best to find something you're good at and like, and stick to it."

Sorority Bid Day

Sororities welcome new sisters

Aside from socials, stitch shirts, paddles and Big/Lil Sis' bonding, Bid Day is one of the most memorable events of sorority life, according to some.

The new members spent four days taking part in recruitment prior to Bid Day. During recruitment, the prospective members visited each house on Sorority Row. They also spent time meeting and socializing with current members.

"Going through Rush was so much fun but stressful at the same time. I made a lot of new friends that weekend. I enjoyed going to the houses each day and getting to know the sorority members," Delta Zeta potential new member, Meredith Hatler, said.

After Rush Week was over, the hopefuls lined the walls of the Shelton Gym anxiously waiting to meet their new sisters. One by one each girl's name was called out and matched with a sorority as the current members of the sorority rushed to hug and welcome them.

After the announcements, the new members were welcomed to their sorority's house where they were able to take photos and meet their new sisters.

Steps

Experience the first step of trust

Fraternity members gathered in the heat in front of the Austin Building on Saturday, Sept. 8, for Greek Steps, one of SFA's time-honored traditions.

Greek Steps, commonly referred to as simply “Steps,” is the culmination of official recruitment. The 13 Interfraternity Council fraternities gathered at the steps of the Austin Building to welcome their new members.

Recruitment offers the opportunity for anyone interested in joining a fraternity to visit with all the fraternities on campus. At the end of the week, potential new members select the fraternity they wish to join. This typically happens the night before Steps.

The morning of Steps, rushees hear their names called, and the fraternities they are accepted into are announced. Then, in front of the crowd, they rip off the plain white t-shirts many of them wear and uncover their fraternity letters displayed either on another t-shirt or written on their chests.

The new members run, strut or dance down the steps of the Austin Building and are thrown into the air and caught by their fraternity members. This represents their transition from being simply an SFA student to being part of a brotherhood. Only new members were allowed to be thrown into the air.

“Steps is truly a monumental time for students who decide they want to become Greek,” Max Key said.

“To be thrown into the air and caught by your brothers is something you will never forget. It represents how your brothers will always be there for you. After spending three years in a fraternity, I can honestly say my brothers have never let me down.”

Many people each year, whether in Greek organizations or not, gather in front of the Austin Building the morning of Steps to watch this SFA tradition. It is an experience many students wish to participate in because of the music, the loud cheering and the extreme energy radiating from the fraternities.

Tuggin' Along

DZ and KA team up for a sticky tradition

The event consisted of a big game of tug of war over a pool of slimy green Jell-O, and the money raised was donated to a good cause. The contest was Delta Zeta's annual Turtle Tug, traditionally held on the first Thursday of November near the Ag Pond.

Tug is one of Delta Zeta's philanthropy events, and all proceeds went to The Painted Turtle, a camp for children who have speech and hearing problems. The camp also helps children who have asthma, diabetes and muscular dystrophy. The Painted Turtle teaches children to take care of themselves and cope with their diseases. For example, diabetic children learn to give themselves insulin shots.

more, participated in Turtle Tug this year and is also a member of Delta Zeta. "We hosted this event with Kappa Alpha and handed out flyers and put up posters around campus in order to publicize the event," Geach said.

Turtle Tug was open to all SFA students interested in participating. Contestants were required to form a team of five for each round.

Members of Delta Zeta also participated. "The last tug of war is always between the new members and the active members," Geach said. Delta Zeta organizes this annual event along with other national and local philanthropy events.

Branching Out

Phi Delts team up with kids for Homecoming

In the past, fraternities have typically paired up with sororities to participate in Homecoming events and build a float for the annual parade held downtown, but this year Phi Delta Theta fraternity broke the mold.

The fraternity teamed up with students from Raguet Elementary School to build a float for the SFA Homecoming Parade.

Phi Delta Theta members went to Raguet Elementary at lunchtime to spend time with the students. Classes each took a 15-minute break during the day to go outside and work with the fraternity on a mural, which ended up as a colorful collage of handprints that was displayed on the float they were building together.

The fraternity invited the elementary school children to the Phi Delt fraternity house to help work on the float. In their main chapter room, children spent time with the fraternity brothers and their friends coloring fish to decorate the float.

At 10 a.m. on Homecoming Saturday, several children and fraternity brothers rode on the float in the parade and displayed their hard work. The float featured a sand castle, a lifeguard chair, large blue waves and decorations made by the elementary school children and the fraternity.

Joe Winston, Phi Delt president, said the fraternity wanted to do something positive in the community, and he thinks they will solely do Homecoming with groups from the community from now on.

"This is a really great thing," he said, for both the community and the fraternity.

Winston said he remembers when he was in elementary school and the varsity baseball players came to eat lunch with the students. It was a very positive experience for him and something he hopes Phi Delta Theta can help recreate for Raguet Elementary students.

The fraternity does a lot of community service and events with Fredonia Elementary School, but this is their first time working with Raguet Elementary.

Winston said he believes fraternities in general need to start promoting themselves in a more positive way.

Former Prez Stumps at SFA

Bill Clinton visits SFA to show support for Hillary

Former President Bill Clinton visited SFA Friday evening to help promote the presidential campaign of his wife, Hillary Clinton.

The Pattillo Student Center (PSC) was extremely warm that night because of the thousands of people filling the hallways. People were pushing each other trying to make their way to the front in order to hear Clinton speak. Upon entering the Grand Ballroom, students were directed to stand on a stage to the left of the one where Clinton would be speaking and to let others take the chairs at the front of the room.

Doors opened at 5:50 p.m., and the event was scheduled to begin at 6 o'clock. The room reached its maximum capacity quickly, and some people were redirected to the Twilight Ballroom to watch the event on a large screen. Hundreds of people were turned away because there was no room for them in either room.

According to SGA President Kent Willis, Grapeland senior, approximately 2,000 people were present in the Grand Ballroom and another 500 were in the Twilight Ballroom watching Clinton on a video feed.

Once everyone was settled inside, they found that Clinton was running behind schedule.

SGA members began passing out water bottles and "Hillary for President" posters to the audience at 6:20 p.m. Students passed time by clapping and singing to several songs including "Dancing in September" by Earth, Wind and Fire, and several faculty members made two unsuccessful attempts at starting the wave.

SFA President Baker Pattillo came on stage at 7:15 and asked SFA to give Clinton "a warm East Texas and Nacogdoches welcome."

At 7:20 p.m. Bill Clinton walked on stage smiling, waving and pointing with extended arms at the crowd saying "Thank you." Loud cheers from enthusiastic spectators interrupted Clinton every few minutes for the duration of his one-hour speech.

He focused on the current presidential campaign and Hillary Clinton's ideas for the country. He began by discussing the current economic status of the United States and the country's $9 trillion debt. Then he went on to discuss Hillary's opinions on universal health care, the Iraq war, tax cuts, conflicts in the military, home foreclosures, creating new jobs and a "clean, energy-efficient future."

Clinton also discussed the current process of obtaining student loans and funding for college.

"Basically it's a disgrace the way it works now," Clinton said. "You should never go broke repaying your student loan." He also said some private student loan companies charge students 20 percent interest per year.

Clinton discussed Hillary's plans for fixing some of the current problems with student loans.

He said she thinks the government should raise the Pell grants every year, raise the Hope scholarship tax credit from $1,600 per year to $3,500 per year, "give young people the opportunity to earn more money for college by expanding the availability of AmeriCorps community service projects," and "crack down on abusive student loan practices."

While serving in the United States Senate, Hillary Clinton passed the Bi-Partisan Bill to limit student loan repayments to a low percentage of a student's income.

Clinton ended his speech by asking voters to answer one question when they decide who to vote for in this election: "How do you define success on the job?"

He said when people ask themselves this question, the candidate with the solutions they desire should be apparent.

According to the former president, Hillary Clinton she said she would define her success in office, if she were elected, by three things. First, are the American people better off? Second, do the youth of America have a brighter future? Third, Is the world coming together or being torn apart?

Clinton began his day speaking in Texarkana and continued to Lufkin after he left Nacogdoches.

Dig for a Cure

ZTA teams up with SFA Volleyball to fight breast cancer

The women of Zeta Tau Alpha and the SFA Volleyball team raised more than $3,000 for breast cancer research during the sorority's yearly event, Dig for a Cure. The event centered around the Ladyjacks' Oct. 23 match against Sam Houston State University. The ladyjacks won in three straight sets. These wins were not only triumphs for SFA, but also breast cancer research.

A crowd estimated at 750 fans gathered at Johnson Coliseum to lend their support to the Ladyjacks and to help fight breast cancer. The onlookers watched as SFA picked up 75 digs, with every one of them sending money to the American Cancer Society.

Eighteen teams have participated in Dig for a Cure around the country, with each school raising an average of $2,777. SFA Volleyball and ZTA surpassed that mark this year.

Participants were able to pledge any amount of money per dig, with donations ranging from 10 cents to as much as $2 per dig. Also, pledges ranging from $1 to $500 were accepted.

Zeta Tau Alpha members showed their support by donating pink t-shirts that were sold, with proceeds going directly to the American Cancer Society.

SFA students, faculty and staff gathered at Homer Bryce Stadium on April 16, 2007 to honor the victims of the Virginia Tech shooting. Those in attendance were asked to wear purple shirts to show SFA's school spirit and togetherness. Attendees formed a large-scale replica of the Virginia Tech logo while several photographers snapped pictures. The pictures were sent to Virginia Tech as a symbol of SFA's support. Participants also had the opportunity to contribute to the Virginia Tech memorial scholarship fund.

Stone Fort

Stephen F. Austin State University

Colophon

The 83rd edition of the Stone Fort was the creation of an all-student staff at Stephen F. Austin State University. The book was printed by Herff Jones, Chicago, Illinois. The sales representative was Brad Cooper, and the account executive was Lesli Hawkes. 2,628 copies were printed. The price of the book was $52, which included the cost of postage to mail yearbooks to the students' home address.

Copy and Design

All copy was written by Stone Fort and The Pine Log staff members. The opening, end sheets, division pages, closing and scholars sections were designed by Justin Elbert. All other pages were designed by their respective editors.

Photography

Typography

Baskerville Regular 10-point was used for all body copy. Stone Sans Semi 8-point was used for all captions. Headline fonts differed by section and included Bernhard Modern, Fina, Warnock Pro and Apple Chancery. Helvetica Neue was used for all subheads.

Printing

All pages were printed on 100# dull enamel paper. Signatures one through three, eight, nine, 11, 12, and 22 were printed using four-color processing on selected flats, which alternated the color spreads with the black and white spreads. All other pages were printed using only black-ink processing.

Cover

The 2008 Stone Fort cover was designed by Justin Elbert. The architectural drawing of the Student Center was drawn in Adobe Illustrator CS3 by Justin Elbert. The cover was printed in black-ink only with a lithographic technique. The font used for the cover was Helvetica Neue.

Production, Contact and Copy

The 2008 Stone Fort was produced on Apple iMac computers using Adobe InDesign CS3, Adobe Photoshop CS3 and Microsoft Word. The Stone Fort has been the official yearbook of Stephen F. Austin State University for 83 years. Editorial content does not reflect the views of the University.
